Opposition Is Expressed To Landfill by Fifth Ward

MAYOR MAKES PROPOSAL—Mayor Frederick H. Stang stands before capacity assemblage in common council chambers at city hall to explain land reclamation project he proposes for Kingston Point lagoon area. (Freeman photo)

Democrats Plan to Vote With Perry

300 Are Present At Local Hearing

Proposed disposal of local refuse and reclamation of a Kingston Point swamp area by the landfill method met with expected bitter opposition by Fifth Ward residents at a public hearing last night against the promise of experts that the project would be no detriment to the area, Kingston Point Park.

A crowd estimated at more than 300 jammed the Common Council chamber where Mayor Frederick H. Stang conducted the hearing as president of the Board of Public Works.

PROPONENTS of the plan held that it would cause no inconveniences in the neighborhood and the opposition argued that "dump" elements would prevail, and other factors, including the operation of trucks to and from the area, would be unwelcomed nuisances.

Argument, at times, wandered from the issue at hand and became heatedly political.

The session brought out, among other important points that the five Democratic aldermen will join Fifth Ward Alderman Samuel J. Perry in voting against the project if it is presented for a vote at next Tuesday's recessed Common Council meeting.

OTHER POINTS developed:

Opponents of the proposal at the hearing indicated they are more willing to tolerate conditions in the swamp area as they are; including an open sewer condition and effects of the tides, rather than risk reclamation of the land, coupled with a refuse disposal system.

Experts, including two from New York city, held that the open sewer condition and tides have no direct bearing on whether the landfill project would solve the city's refuse disposal problem. The other conditions they said, would be handled as separate projects.

Alderman Perry, leader of the opposition in his ward, is in favor of the landfill method of refuse disposal, but favors the trench method, as used in Newburgh, and would have such a project in no city ward.

MAYOR STANG, answering argument that trucks used in the project would be a new danger to children in the ward guarteed "adequate policewomen" there, and refuting the point that other mayors might not carry on satisfactorily he declared:

"I intend to fulfill my duties in this respect thoroughly, and whoever follows me, I am sure, will do the same. If he, who follows, for one instant, attempted to neglect or minimize his duty in this respect—I would hate to be in that man's shoes."

AMONG OFFICIALS at the hearing were the two New York city experts, Maurice Feldman, engineer in charge of hard fill operations in New York, and Stuart Constable, an executive in the office of New York's department of parks. Others were City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan, Ernest A. Steuding, public works superintendent; Edward I. McCaffery, consulting engineer; Corporation Counsel James J. Abernethy, Harry F. Edinger, director of environmental sanitation, county health department, and members of the Common Council.

Approval or rejection of the proposal, the mayor said, rests solely with the aldermen.

This point he stressed particularly in answer to a query by Mrs. John J. Hogan, 49 German street, who asked if the aldermen had been "instructed" as to how to vote on the proposal.

EACH WOULD BE on his "own conscience," the mayor said, and added: "I certainly

Scientist Says Work For Peace

Says Yellow Press Blinds People

Moscow, March 4 (AP)—Prof. Bruno Pontecorvo held the center of the stage for an hour and 40 minutes at a news conference today. He disclosed little except that he has been a Soviet citizen since 1952. He declared he is working only on a peaceful atomic project.

The scientist was born in Italy but fled to the west in 1950. His whereabouts had been a mystery, but Pravda last weekend revealed his presence in the Soviet Union. What prompted Soviet officials to arrange today's news conference—a rare thing in this country—was not exactly clear.

Asked by a western correspondent if he would change over to atomic military work in case of a direct threat to the Soviet Union, Pontecorvo answered:

"I am a Soviet citizen and together with all Soviet people I am ready to serve the people to the best of my ability."

This seemed to be an elaborate way of saying yes.

His voice broke and words came slowly as he sent greetings to the physicists with whom he had worked in England.

"I must say I have feelings of great friendship and respect for them, especially the director of the laboratory where I worked, Prof. (Sir John D.) Cockcroft."

PONTECORVO SAID that many of these psysicists are "honest, capable people who are blinded by the yellow press. Only thus can I explain their opinion about the Soviet Union."

Pontecorvo, who was given British citizenship for his work in World War 2, disappeared in 1950 while working in England's top secret Harwell Atomic Research Station. He is now about 45 years old.

The dark-haired scientist answered questions of 75 reporters from both the Communist and non-Communist world at the conference, arranged by the USSR Academy of Science in its white marble hall on the outskirts of Moscow.

HE PROCLAIMED firmly his belief that "Soviet science and Soviet physics hold the first place in the world."

He cited as proof the creation in the Soviet Union of what he called the world's first atomic powered electric station. But he added he was not connected with work on the station, which Russia said was established for industrial purposes.

Pontecorvo waved a Soviet passport before correspondents and said he had been a Soviet citizen since 1952, living with his

Kingston Plaque Is Unveiled

Kingston Upon Thames, England, March 4 (AP)—Rear Adm. Charles H. Lyman unveiled a plaque in the Guildhall City Center here last night linking this ancient Thameside borough with its modern sister city across the Atlantic in New York state.

The plaque commemorates the first two-way crossing of the Atlantic by a small powered motorboat. The voyage was from Kingston Upon Thames to Kingston, N. Y., and back.

The trip was completed last summer by Cecil Harcourt Smith, skipper of the converted 45-foot lifeboat Aries, in 79 days.

The plaque was presented to Kingston upon Thames by Mayor Frederick H. Stang of Kingston, N. Y., to mark the crossing.

Lyman, the American naval attache in London, said: "We are commemorating a truly gallant event which linked the two Kingstons."

Boom Is Ahead At Catskill Plant

Allentown, Pa., March 4 (AP)—The Lehigh Portland Cement Co., reporting rising profits, says that its plant near Catskill, N. Y., will be able to turn out nearly a million barrels more this year.

President Joseph S. Young yesterday listed net profits last year of $7,958,681 or $4.19 a share — compared with $6,308,287 or $3.32 a share in 1953.

He attributed the gain to an upswing in sales and the ending of the excess profits tax.

Expansion of the Catskill plant was completed last December, Young reported, and he said the company would get almost full utilization of the one-million barrel additional capacity this year.

Avalon Mayor, 17 Are Indicted

Cape May, N. J., March 4 (AP)—A Cape May county grand jury has indicted Mayor Edith Greenan of Avalon and 17 other persons—including five officials of the town—on charges of conspiracy to aid in fraudulent voting.

Mayor Greenan is a Republican state committeewoman.

The indictments, returned yesterday to Superior Court Judge Anthony J. Cafiero, also named Public Service Coordinated Transport, Inc., saying the giant bus firm knowingly carried illegal voters from Philadelphia to Avalon and back again last April.

Yesterday's action brought to an end the grand jury's probe into alleged vote frauds, ordered by Atty. Gen. Grover C. Richman, Jr.

A TOTAL OF SEVEN indictments were handed up, one of them naming all 18 persons and the bus firm, five against individuals who also were mentioned in the joint document, and another against three persons identified as co-conspirators in unlawfully counselling illegal voters to cast ballots.

Ninety-two persons have been indicted previously by the grand jury on charges of fraudulent voting.

The grand jury maintained that the 92 persons already indicted were merely summer residents of Avalon and thus ineligible to vote. The purported frauds took place in the primary election last year.

Comment from the Avalon officials was not available. James M. Symington, vice president of Public Service, declined comment pending a study of the charges.

Avalon is located near the southern tip of New Jersey.

Regains Consciousness

Robert John Taylor, 19, of Hoboken, N. J., who was found along Route 9W early Monday morning suffering from severe injuries, was reported at the Kingston Hospital today to have regained consciousness. His condition was reported as "slightly improved." How he suffered the injuries has not been definitely learned. County Investigator Arthur A. Brown said when Taylor's condition permitted he would be questioned as to how the injuries were inflicted.

Kefauver Asks Shift In Program

Evacuation Roads Seen Necessary

Washington, March 4 (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D.-Tenn.) urged today revision of the administration's highway construction program to include roads adequate to evacuate persons from hydrogen bomb target cities.

Unless this is done, he said, the question of building shelters along highways outside the deadly blast area will be "academic" because no one will get to them.

Kefauver is chairman of a Senate armed services subcommittee on civil defense. At a hearing yesterday it was told of emergency plans for digging trenches or laying concrete pipes along highways to shield persons from the poisonous radioactive fall-out from H-Bombs.

The testimony was given by Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson, who was asked to return for another hearing this afternoon (2 p. m.).

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER has said one purpose of the highway construction program he submitted to Congress is to relieve congestion and speed evacuation of target cities in case of an atomic attack.

Peterson said a partial test evacuation of Milwaukee recently had shown that the expenditure of a relatively small amount of money for widening roads and bridges could speed up greatly the emptying of a city.

Kefauver asked him to get further information from the Federal Bureau of Public Roads and state civil defense officials on highway needs and plans.

PETERSON SAID it was likely that at least 50 million Americans might have to be evacuated from critical target areas if an H-bomb attack were launched against the country.

He said half of them might be accommodated in homes, churches, schools, culverts or other existing structures. For the others he said his plan was to make use of the protection afforded by the earth.

He said machines could go along the highways digging trenches two feet wide and six feet deep. People fleeing the target areas, he said, could jump into these and put boards, dirt and tar paper over them.

Peterson said "a much more expensive plan" to which the Civil Defense Administration also had given thought was to lay miles of concrete pipe four feet in diameter along the side of the highways and cover them with three feet of dirt.

HE TOLD the subcommittee that persons who crawled into

M'Cormick Says Threat Not Present

Is More Confident Than Funston

Washington, March 4 (AP)—Edward T. McCormick, president of the American Stock Exchange, testified today that in spite of record-high and still rising stock prices "we have not reached a danger point in the stock market."

McCormick was invited before the Senate Banking Committee in its inquiry into the stock market—an inquiry that seemed for the moment to be focused on efforts of the financial community to draw millions of new investors into the market.

LIKE YESTERDAY'S leadoff witness, President G. Keith Funston of the New York Stock Exchange, McCormick said current high prices are based on such sound factors as strong business avtivitey and confidence of investors.

McCormick on the whole voiced a firmer degree of confidence in the market outlook than did Funston, who said the possibility of a 1929-type crash can't be ruled out. Funston said he himself, however, is continuing to buy stocks.

The American Stock Exchange, which McCormick heads, is one of the two securities exchanges in this country with nationwide facilities. It has 1,800 members in 447 cities and its trading volume is second only to that of the New York exchange.

McCORMICK SAID in his prepared statement he sees no indication of "excessive or unsound use of credit" in the market today.

And he said the fact that market price indexes "have risen above the peaks which they attained in September of 1929 should not in itself be accorded too much significance."

"Whereas the stock market average shows an increase from 1929 of 13 per cent," McCormick said, "cost of living is up 56 per cent, farm income 133 per cent, insurance premium collections 196 per cent, hourly wages 228 per cent, bank deposits 229 per cent, personal income 234 per cent, gross national product 242 per cent, and mortgage debt 284 per cent."

CHAIRMAN FULBRIGHT (D-Ark.) of the banking committee quizzed yesterday's witness closely about a campaign by the New York exchange and its members to bring many more investors into the stock market.

The Arkansas senator said at one point that this recruitment campaign by itself is driving prices up by increasing the number of buyers for a limited amount of stock.

"Obviously, this is inflationary," Fulbright told Funston, adding that the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) may have to tighten some of its rules.

Funston argued that millions of new investors must come into the market if American industry is to get the capital it needs for expansion in years to come.

He agreed that a current shortage of new stock issues is one of the factors forcing prices up. But he said the stock exchange can't do anything to encourage corporations to offer stock. In any event, he said, the rise in prices is causing more shares to be offered.

Board Refuses Union Request

BOSTON WATERFRONT FIRE—Two fireboats help finish up the battle against a fire that swept through historic India Wharf, Boston, Thursday. The flames destroyed many old wooden buildings but left untouched the brick and marble warehouse, right center, only commercial structure designed by Charles Bullfinch, famous architect of Boston's early days. Site of the Boston Tea Party was inland from here as docks were extended and harbor filled in over the years. The name of the wharf comes from East Indies trade of the clipper ship era. Protest Is Made On School Work

A request by local building trades unions for an investigation of the type of work being done on Public School No. 8 has been refused by the Kingston Board of Education.

A committe of union represenatives protested earlier this week in a meeting with the board's building committee that public school maintenance men were doing work on School 8 that was properly the work of union men.

The board voted seven to one against the request for an investigation with Harold Darling casting the dissenting vote.

George E. Yerry, Jr., business agent of the Hudson Valley District of Carpenters, said this morning a "token picket" was at the school on the ground that the work was not fair to the building trades union. He said there would be more pickets later.

"All we asked was that work on the job be delayed until a hearing before the State Labor Board could be arranged," Yerry said.

RICHARD KALISH, chairman of the board's building committee, told the board last night that the matter had been referred to Corporation Counsel James J. Abernethy who had advised the board it was within its legal rights in performing the work with maintenance labor.

In a letter to Breed, Abbot and Morgan, New York legal firm representing the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters, Abernethy pointed out that the board of education did not agree with the union position.

"It is my opinion that the board of education is on sound legal ground in doing the work in the manner in which it is now being done.

"IN ADDITION, please be advised that it is my opinion that the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters has no status as 'a person interested' to demand an investigation pursuant to Sect. 220 of the Labor Law in this matter.

"Accordingly, the board of education does not feel that it is obliged to grant your request for an investigation."

REPAIRS AND renovations at School 8 are being made by School Engineer Richard McLean and a crew of four men. The school, closed when the George Washington School was opened a couple of years ago, is being readied for use in September, 1955, due to increasing registration.

Superintendent Arthur J. Laidlaw told the board last night that the budget would be considerably higher in 1955-56 with approximately nine new teachers needed: One in School 2, one in School 3, one in School 5, four in School 8, one in physical education and one in vocational instrumental music. He said three teachers could be transferred from School 6 to School 8.

YERRY SAID today the board was competing against private

Talks on Pact Begin in Taipei

Taipei, Formosa, March 4 (AP)—High level talks designed to put teeth into the U. S.-Nationalist China mutual defense pact got underway today.

One result is expected to be a boost in the flow of U. S. military aid to Chiang Kai-shek's forces.

The agenda was not disclosed, but the conferees probably tackled these questions:

1. The air strength — U. S. and Nationalist combined — necessary to assure reasonable protection of Formosa against Communist air attacks.

2. The amount of air and naval cover necessary to safeguard Quemoy and the Matsus from being overrun by the Reds.

3. The possible targets on the mainland if, as U. S. Secretary of State Dulles said yesterday, "it cannot be assumed . . . that the aggressor would enjoy immunity with respect to the areas from which he stages his offensive."

Sitting in for the United States were Adm. Robert B. Carney, U. S. chief of naval operations, Adm. Felix B. Stump, commanding the U. S. Pacific Fleet; Vice Adm. Alfred M. Pride, commanding the U. S. 7th Fleet; Maj. Gen. William C. Chase, head of the Military Assistance Advisor Group (MAAG), and Rear Adm. Frederick N. Kivette, commanding the U. S. Formosa Strait patrol.

Chinese Reds Are Accused of Sales Of Dope for Arms

Washington, March 4 (AP)—The Chinese Communists have been accused by a U. S. official of plotting to debauch the free world by pushing sales of narcotics for money to buy arms.

H. S. Anslinger, commissioner of narcotics, made the accusation during testimony before the House Appropriations Committee on the Treasury's 1956 budget. The committee made the testimony public today.

The United States, Anslinger said, "is a target of Communist China to be supplied with a flood of foreign exchange-earning, health-and-morale-devastating heroin." Heroin is a derivative of opium.

Security Council to Review Charges by Egypt, Israel

United Nations, March 4 (AP)—The UN Security Council turned late this afternoon to Egyptian charges and Israeli countercharges touched off by Monday night's bloody border fighting near Gaza.

The explosive tension resulting from the clashes—in which 38 Egyptians and 8 Israelis were reported killed — was heightened by militant statements from the Egyptian and Israeli premiers and Egyptian progress toward a new Arab military lineup against Israel.

There was some expectation the council would postpone its discussion of the rival charges until after a report from the Egypt-Israel-UN Mixed Armistice Commission in Palestine. The commission, which supervises the 1949 truce along the Egypt-Israel border, is expected to meet Sunday on the Gaza fighting.

In Jerusalem a spokesman for the truce organization said its chief, Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, had sent the Security Council a report on Monday's clash. Burns visited the scene of the incident yesterday.

Scientist Says Work For Peace

Says Yellow Press Blinds People

Moscow, March 4 (AP)—Prof. Bruno Pontecorvo held the center of the stage for an hour and 40 minutes at a news conference today. He disclosed little except that he has been a Soviet citizen since 1952. He declared he is working only on a peaceful atomic project.

The scientist was born in Italy but fled to the west in 1950. His whereabouts had been a mystery, but Pravda last weekend revealed his presence in the Soviet Union. What prompted Soviet officials to arrange today's news conference—a rare thing in this country—was not exactly clear.

Asked by a western correspondent if he would change over to atomic military work in case of a direct threat to the Soviet Union, Pontecorvo answered:

"I am a Soviet citizen and together with all Soviet people I am ready to serve the people to the best of my ability."

This seemed to be an elaborate way of saying yes.

His voice broke and words came slowly as he sent greetings to the physicists with whom he had worked in England.

"I must say I have feelings of great friendship and respect for them, especially the director of the laboratory where I worked, Prof. (Sir John D.) Cockcroft."

PONTECORVO SAID that many of these psysicists are "honest, capable people who are blinded by the yellow press. Only thus can I explain their opinion about the Soviet Union."

Pontecorvo, who was given British citizenship for his work in World War 2, disappeared in 1950 while working in England's top secret Harwell Atomic Research Station. He is now about 45 years old.

The dark-haired scientist answered questions of 75 reporters from both the Communist and non-Communist world at the conference, arranged by the USSR Academy of Science in its white marble hall on the outskirts of Moscow.

HE PROCLAIMED firmly his belief that "Soviet science and Soviet physics hold the first place in the world."

He cited as proof the creation in the Soviet Union of what he called the world's first atomic powered electric station. But he added he was not connected with work on the station, which Russia said was established for industrial purposes.

Pontecorvo waved a Soviet passport before correspondents and said he had been a Soviet citizen since 1952, living with his

Kingston Plaque Is Unveiled

Kingston Upon Thames, England, March 4 (AP)—Rear Adm. Charles H. Lyman unveiled a plaque in the Guildhall City Center here last night linking this ancient Thameside borough with its modern sister city across the Atlantic in New York state.

The plaque commemorates the first two-way crossing of the Atlantic by a small powered motorboat. The voyage was from Kingston Upon Thames to Kingston, N. Y., and back.

The trip was completed last summer by Cecil Harcourt Smith, skipper of the converted 45-foot lifeboat Aries, in 79 days.

The plaque was presented to Kingston upon Thames by Mayor Frederick H. Stang of Kingston, N. Y., to mark the crossing.

Lyman, the American naval attache in London, said: "We are commemorating a truly gallant event which linked the two Kingstons."

Boom Is Ahead At Catskill Plant

Allentown, Pa., March 4 (AP)—The Lehigh Portland Cement Co., reporting rising profits, says that its plant near Catskill, N. Y., will be able to turn out nearly a million barrels more this year.

President Joseph S. Young yesterday listed net profits last year of $7,958,681 or $4.19 a share — compared with $6,308,287 or $3.32 a share in 1953.

He attributed the gain to an upswing in sales and the ending of the excess profits tax.

Expansion of the Catskill plant was completed last December, Young reported, and he said the company would get almost full utilization of the one-million barrel additional capacity this year.

Avalon Mayor, 17 Are Indicted

Cape May, N. J., March 4 (AP)—A Cape May county grand jury has indicted Mayor Edith Greenan of Avalon and 17 other persons—including five officials of the town—on charges of conspiracy to aid in fraudulent voting.

Mayor Greenan is a Republican state committeewoman.

The indictments, returned yesterday to Superior Court Judge Anthony J. Cafiero, also named Public Service Coordinated Transport, Inc., saying the giant bus firm knowingly carried illegal voters from Philadelphia to Avalon and back again last April.

Yesterday's action brought to an end the grand jury's probe into alleged vote frauds, ordered by Atty. Gen. Grover C. Richman, Jr.

A TOTAL OF SEVEN indictments were handed up, one of them naming all 18 persons and the bus firm, five against individuals who also were mentioned in the joint document, and another against three persons identified as co-conspirators in unlawfully counselling illegal voters to cast ballots.

Ninety-two persons have been indicted previously by the grand jury on charges of fraudulent voting.

The grand jury maintained that the 92 persons already indicted were merely summer residents of Avalon and thus ineligible to vote. The purported frauds took place in the primary election last year.

Comment from the Avalon officials was not available. James M. Symington, vice president of Public Service, declined comment pending a study of the charges.

Avalon is located near the southern tip of New Jersey.

Kefauver Asks Shift In Program

Evacuation Roads Seen Necessary

Washington, March 4 (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D.-Tenn.) urged today revision of the administration's highway construction program to include roads adequate to evacuate persons from hydrogen bomb target cities.

Unless this is done, he said, the question of building shelters along highways outside the deadly blast area will be "academic" because no one will get to them.

Kefauver is chairman of a Senate armed services subcommittee on civil defense. At a hearing yesterday it was told of emergency plans for digging trenches or laying concrete pipes along highways to shield persons from the poisonous radioactive fall-out from H-Bombs.

The testimony was given by Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson, who was asked to return for another hearing this afternoon (2 p. m.).

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER has said one purpose of the highway construction program he submitted to Congress is to relieve congestion and speed evacuation of target cities in case of an atomic attack.

Peterson said a partial test evacuation of Milwaukee recently had shown that the expenditure of a relatively small amount of money for widening roads and bridges could speed up greatly the emptying of a city.

Kefauver asked him to get further information from the Federal Bureau of Public Roads and state civil defense officials on highway needs and plans.

PETERSON SAID it was likely that at least 50 million Americans might have to be evacuated from critical target areas if an H-bomb attack were launched against the country.

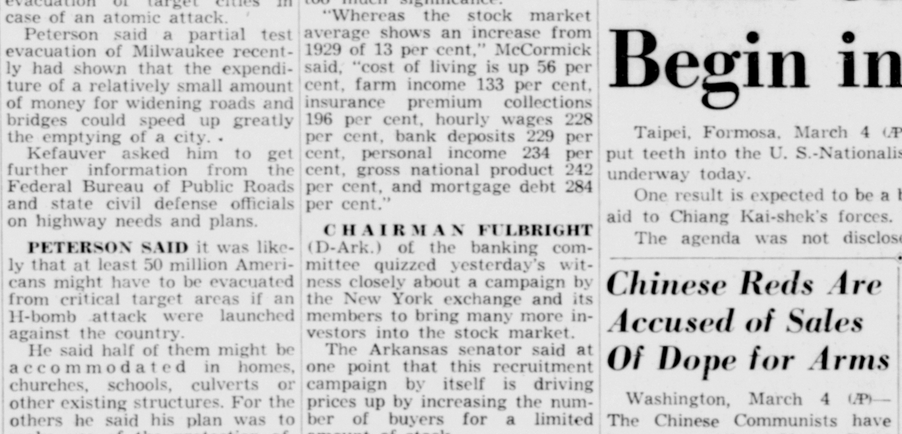

He said half of them might be accommodated in homes, churches, schools, culverts or other existing structures. For the others he said his plan was to make use of the protection afforded by the earth.

He said machines could go along the highways digging trenches two feet wide and six feet deep. People fleeing the target areas, he said, could jump into these and put boards, dirt and tar paper over them.

Peterson said "a much more expensive plan" to which the Civil Defense Administration also had given thought was to lay miles of concrete pipe four feet in diameter along the side of the highways and cover them with three feet of dirt.

HE TOLD the subcommittee that persons who crawled into

BACKS 4-H SHINGLE DRIVE — Charles Relyea of Hurley, chairman of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, buys shingle from Bobby Saxe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Saxe of West Hurley, to help Ulster County 4H Club buy a camp of its own. Nathaniel Phillips (right), president of the 4-H Club Local Leaders, is happy over transaction. (Freeman photo).

Drive Will Start For 4-H Camp Fund Next Week

Ulster County 4-H Clubs are seeking to establish their own 4-H camp, it was revealed today with the announcement that a fund drive will be inaugurated next week to coincide with National 4-H Club Week.

Establishment of the camp has been discussed at meetings of the newly organized county 4-H Local Leaders Association, and a "Shingle Drive" has been adopted as the means of raising money toward the camp fund.

NO SPECIFIC goal has been set for the drive, but the 4-H Clubs are hoping to raise from $8,000 to $10,000 toward the project.

At the present time no site has been selected for the camp, according to Edmund R. Bower, county 4-H Club agent.

The aid of area lumber companies has been solicited to donate shingles without cost to the 4-H Clubs.

All persons who contribute $1 or more toward the camp fund will have the opportunity to place their names on an actual shingle which will be used in the construction of a building on the 4-H campsite.

THE SHINGLE drive idea was born during a discussion at the Feb. 24 meeting of the 4-H Local Leaders Association, held at the Marbletown Central School.

Nathaniel Phillips, president of the Leaders Association, has stated that the proposed camp program will be "most beneficial to the boys and girls of Ulster county, and the help of all residents will be warmly accepted."

proof that narcotic trafficking from the Red Chinese mainland "is an insidious, calculated scheme of the Chinese Communist regime to obtain operating funds and at the same time spread the debauchery of narcotic addiction among the free nations."

American dollars received for the dope, he added, are being exchanged by the Communists for war materials.

Most of the heroin being smuggled from China, he said, goes to Japan, which "is having a stupendous problem with the heroin trade."

Two Kingstonians Are Taken To Hospital After Crash

Two city residents were admitted to Kingston Hospital shortly after 8 a. m. today following a four-car accident on Route 9W a short distance south of Wiltwyck School.

They were Carl Knudsen, 32, and his wife, Helen, 31, of 115 Fairmont avenue. A third person, Otto Albrecht, 21, of Trenton, N. J., was treated but not admitted.

No report on the condition of Mr. and Mrs. Knudsen, or the extent of their injuries, were available at press time.

HIGHLAND STATE POLICE said the highway was slushy and slippery, with rain falling, at the time of the mishap.

Troopers said a 1952 sedan, operated by Jennie Chafouleas, 20, of 126 Emerson street, a 1952 sedan operated by Knudsen, and a 1954 sedan operated by Harold Boice, 20, of Box 278, RD 3, Kingston, were southbound in that order, and a fourth car, a 1952 convertible, operated by Albrecht, was northbound.

As they reconstructed the accident, the Chafouleas car, traveling about 30 miles per hour, skidded across the highway, and struck the rear fender of the Albrecht car, causing the Albrecht car to spin into the car driven by Knudsen. The Boice vehicle then skidded into the Knudsen car, continuing and striking the Albrecht vehicle. The Chafouleas car continued off the east side of the highway and struck a stone wall. The cars had to be removed by wreckers.

Troopers T. M. Luongo and E. N. Bussett investigated.

Two Men Held For Grand Jury

Two men arrested Wednesday in Poughkeepsie and charged with an $800 armed robbery on a Highland tavern owner have been held for the grand jury.

They were committed to the Ulster county jail Thursday following arraignment before Justice of the Peace Patsy J. Conforti of Highland on armed robbery charges.

The men, Donald John Travis, 26, and Robert George Roberts Jr., 20, both of Ossining were picked up on gun charges by Poughkeepsie police, who found them sleeping in a sedan on Brookside avenue in that city at 2:30 a. m. Wednesday.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY Raymond Barrata, of Dutchess county agreed to allow District Attorney Howard C. St. John of Ulster county to process the armed robbery charge first.

Highland state police reportedly linked the two men with the Highland robbery after questioning by Sgt. Lynn Baker of the BCI of that station.

Arthur Spero, owner of the Grand Tavern on North road, Highland, reported he was held up by two armed masked men who took $800 in currency and checks from him.

The robbery occurred about 3:15 a. m., February 25, as Spero was leaving his tavern, after locking it up for the night, he reported to the troopers.

Late Bulletin

Washington, March 4 (AP)—A stock exchange official testified today that a stock tip by Walter Winchell on a TV show two months ago threw the exchange into a turmoil. But for prompt action by officials, he said, it would have cost those who followed it an $8 a share loss.

Edward T. McCormick, president of the American Stock Exchange, gave the testimony in the Senate Banking Committee's inquiry into the current boom in stock prices.

McCormick said a Sunday night tip by Winchell indicating Pantepec oil was a good buy brought an avalanche of orders —for a total of 357,000 transactions—the following morning, Jan. 10.

"It was just simply amazing," McCormick said ,and he called it the greatest number of transactions in a single stock in the history of any exchange.

Talks on . . .

tached to the conference, original plans for the visiting U. S. admirals to visit Quemoy and the Matsus today were cancelled.

Official Nationalist circles were reported to be "very happy" over the exchange of views yesterday between Dulles and Chiang.

Nationalist quarters appear confident that the United States will intervene against any really large-scale amphibious attacks against Quemoy and the Matsus.

SUCH INTERVENTION could bring about a conflict with Red China that might not be localized.

Before leaving for Washington yesterday, Dulles gave the Reds this clear warning;

". . . the United States continues to evaluate the words and deeds of the Chinese Communist regime to ascertain whether their military action, preparations and concentrations in the Formosa area constitute, in fact, the first phase of an attack directed against Taiwan (Formosa) and whether the United States must proceed on this assumption.

"If so, it cannot be assumed that the defense would be statis and confined to Taiwan itself, or that the aggressor would enjoy immunity with respect to the areas from which he stages his offensive."

The U.S. marriage rate reached an all-time peak of 16.2 per 1,000 population in 1946 and has been declining since that time except for an upswing in 1950 when the Korean war started.

BACKS 4-H SHINGLE DRIVE — Charles Relyea of Hurley, chairman of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, buys shingle from Bobby Saxe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Saxe of West Hurley, to help Ulster County 4H Club buy a camp of its own. Nathaniel Phillips (right), president of the 4-H Club Local Leaders, is happy over transaction. (Freeman photo).

Drive Will Start For 4-H Camp Fund Next Week

Ulster County 4-H Clubs are seeking to establish their own 4-H camp, it was revealed today with the announcement that a fund drive will be inaugurated next week to coincide with National 4-H Club Week.

Establishment of the camp has been discussed at meetings of the newly organized county 4-H Local Leaders Association, and a "Shingle Drive" has been adopted as the means of raising money toward the camp fund.

NO SPECIFIC goal has been set for the drive, but the 4-H Clubs are hoping to raise from $8,000 to $10,000 toward the project.

At the present time no site has been selected for the camp, according to Edmund R. Bower, county 4-H Club agent.

The aid of area lumber companies has been solicited to donate shingles without cost to the 4-H Clubs.

All persons who contribute $1 or more toward the camp fund will have the opportunity to place their names on an actual shingle which will be used in the construction of a building on the 4-H campsite.

THE SHINGLE drive idea was born during a discussion at the Feb. 24 meeting of the 4-H Local Leaders Association, held at the Marbletown Central School.

Nathaniel Phillips, president of the Leaders Association, has stated that the proposed camp program will be "most beneficial to the boys and girls of Ulster county, and the help of all residents will be warmly accepted."

proof that narcotic trafficking from the Red Chinese mainland "is an insidious, calculated scheme of the Chinese Communist regime to obtain operating funds and at the same time spread the debauchery of narcotic addiction among the free nations."

American dollars received for the dope, he added, are being exchanged by the Communists for war materials.

Most of the heroin being smuggled from China, he said, goes to Japan, which "is having a stupendous problem with the heroin trade."

Two Kingstonians Are Taken To Hospital After Crash

Two city residents were admitted to Kingston Hospital shortly after 8 a. m. today following a four-car accident on Route 9W a short distance south of Wiltwyck School.

They were Carl Knudsen, 32, and his wife, Helen, 31, of 115 Fairmont avenue. A third person, Otto Albrecht, 21, of Trenton, N. J., was treated but not admitted.

No report on the condition of Mr. and Mrs. Knudsen, or the extent of their injuries, were available at press time.

HIGHLAND STATE POLICE said the highway was slushy and slippery, with rain falling, at the time of the mishap.

Troopers said a 1952 sedan, operated by Jennie Chafouleas, 20, of 126 Emerson street, a 1952 sedan operated by Knudsen, and a 1954 sedan operated by Harold Boice, 20, of Box 278, RD 3, Kingston, were southbound in that order, and a fourth car, a 1952 convertible, operated by Albrecht, was northbound.

As they reconstructed the accident, the Chafouleas car, traveling about 30 miles per hour, skidded across the highway, and struck the rear fender of the Albrecht car, causing the Albrecht car to spin into the car driven by Knudsen. The Boice vehicle then skidded into the Knudsen car, continuing and striking the Albrecht vehicle. The Chafouleas car continued off the east side of the highway and struck a stone wall. The cars had to be removed by wreckers.

Troopers T. M. Luongo and E. N. Bussett investigated.

Two men arrested Wednesday in Poughkeepsie and charged with an $800 armed robbery on a Highland tavern owner have been held for the grand jury.

They were committed to the Ulster county jail Thursday following arraignment before Justice of the Peace Patsy J. Conforti of Highland on armed robbery charges.

The men, Donald John Travis, 26, and Robert George Roberts Jr., 20, both of Ossining were picked up on gun charges by Poughkeepsie police, who found them sleeping in a sedan on Brookside avenue in that city at 2:30 a. m. Wednesday.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY Raymond Barrata, of Dutchess county agreed to allow District Attorney Howard C. St. John of Ulster county to process the armed robbery charge first.

Highland state police reportedly linked the two men with the Highland robbery after questioning by Sgt. Lynn Baker of the BCI of that station.

Arthur Spero, owner of the Grand Tavern on North road, Highland, reported he was held up by two armed masked men who took $800 in currency and checks from him.

The robbery occurred about 3:15 a. m., February 25, as Spero was leaving his tavern, after locking it up for the night, he reported to the troopers.

Late Bulletin

Washington, March 4 (AP)—A stock exchange official testified today that a stock tip by Walter Winchell on a TV show two months ago threw the exchange into a turmoil. But for prompt action by officials, he said, it would have cost those who followed it an $8 a share loss.

Edward T. McCormick, president of the American Stock Exchange, gave the testimony in the Senate Banking Committee's inquiry into the current boom in stock prices.

McCormick said a Sunday night tip by Winchell indicating Pantepec oil was a good buy brought an avalanche of orders —for a total of 357,000 transactions—the following morning, Jan. 10.

"It was just simply amazing," McCormick said ,and he called it the greatest number of transactions in a single stock in the history of any exchange.

Talks on . . .

tached to the conference, original plans for the visiting U. S. admirals to visit Quemoy and the Matsus today were cancelled.

Official Nationalist circles were reported to be "very happy" over the exchange of views yesterday between Dulles and Chiang.

Nationalist quarters appear confident that the United States will intervene against any really large-scale amphibious attacks against Quemoy and the Matsus.

SUCH INTERVENTION could bring about a conflict with Red China that might not be localized.

Before leaving for Washington yesterday, Dulles gave the Reds this clear warning:

". . . the United States continues to evaluate the words and deeds of the Chinese Communist regime to ascertain whether their military action, preparations and concentrations in the Formosa area constitute, in fact, the first phase of an attack directed against Taiwan (Formosa) and whether the United States must proceed on this assumption.

"If so, it cannot be assumed that the defense would be statis and confined to Taiwan itself, or that the aggressor would enjoy immunity with respect to the areas from which he stages his offensive."

The U.S. marriage rate reached an all-time peak of 16.2 per 1,000 population in 1946 and has been declining since that time except for an upswing in 1950 when the Korean war started.

Debate Swirls Over Jobs; Are Chances Good or Poor?

By SAM DAWSON

New York, March 4 (AP) — A storm is building up today over the outlook for jobs in this period of good times. Are the chances of landing a job getting better or worse?

The debate arises from this: Business is better than a year ago. But more people are out of work.

Many of those who are working have better take-home pay—either from fatter hourly wage rates or from longer work weeks. And their pay buys a little more at the store or gets them better quality goods at the old price.

UNION LEADERS, however, warn that unemployment may rise further this month—perhaps reach four million. Chiefly they cite a constantly growing labor force. But they also worry about the results of mechanization in the factories — more machines and better machines can turn out the same amount of goods with fewer workers.

Latest census bureau estimates, for mid-January, put unemployment at 3,347,000, up half a million in a month, and more than half a million higher than a year earlier.

ECONOMISTS of the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, however, say the rise early this year was seasonal — "nothing more than past experience has taught us to expect, and hence by no stretch of the imagination . . . reflective of any deterioration of the basic situation."

The National City Bank of New York, in its March letter out today, thinks some of the worrying about present unemployment is baseless, and it doubts if "overfull employment" is a state to be desired.

THE BANK'S economists note that during a "hectic peacetime boom . . . women who might better be at home raising their families and students who might better stay in school are tempted by the abundance of jobs to go to work."

After saying that a certain amount of unemployment is normal, the bank economists assert that the official unemployment figures reflect not only those really looking for work but also the fact that currently idle "people often are choosey about the jobs they will take, willing to wait for what they want, and reluctant to change employer, occupation or residence."

THE BANK NOTES: "It is remarkable that no one calculates the totals of unfilled jobs. That such exist in large numbers is evidenced in the turnover statistics and the help wanted ads, to say nothing of the chronic shortages of domestic help."

Labor leaders doubtless will have quick replies for the points the bank economists make. The unions stress that the fundamental need is for more jobs as more people reach working age.

But a somewhat different view is taken by Peter F. Drucker, management consultant, in this month's issue of Harper's magazine. He holds that a labor shortage is in the making.

TEN YEARS from now, he says, the U. S. population will be one-fifth larger, but the total population of working age will have increased by only one-tenth. And since he believes that more people of working age will be going to college or retiring earlier, the population actually available for work will increase by only one-fifteenth.

Thus, he holds, there will be a lot more people demanding goods and services, but not a lot more actually working to supply them.

In support of his figuring he cites the fact that those who will enter the labor force in the next 10 years are already born and counted, and that those who will be retiring are also already an item in the census files.

NATIONAL ENGINEERS WEEK

An important event at Hercules Powder Company on February 25 was the meeting of 18 technicians in the Port Ewen plant to commemorate National Engineers Week. As far as we know, it was the only concentrated effort in the area for the observance of the occasion.

Arrangements for the assemblage were made by E. P. Rochford, works manager, and E. K. Lefren, assistant manager, who took cognizance of the important event, and the signficance given to it throughout the nation.

President Eisenhower, in a speech at Washington, D. C., offered congratulations and best wishes to American engineers. Relative to Engineers Week, he said he hoped it "would help increase our citizens' knowledge and appreciation of their debt to this great profession."

Dr. John Jacob Theobald, president of Queens College, Flushing, N. Y., said that "engineers have done an excellent job on the design, production and improvement of the various engineering elements which help make modern society possible."

Men at the Hercules meeting represented a wide cross-section of the country, coming from 11 states and 14 engineering schools. All are on the staff at the Port Ewen plant. They represent the largest group of machine design and development engineers in the company.

Aside from the two groups named, Hercules Port Ewen plant employs chemical, industrial, maintenance, quality control and safety engineers. Their endeavors are in line with operations that keep approximately 1,000 men and women employed by the company's local branch that has been one of the sector's flourishing enterprises since 1914.

PROGRESS REPORTED

President Eisenhower had ordered all government agencies to review their industrial and commercial activities within the next few months to "determine how many of these activities are in competition with private business and how many can reasonably be ended."

That is squarely in line with a statement he made in 1952: "That no federal project large or small will be undertaken which the people can effectively do or be helped to do for themselves; that no federal project will be undertaken which private enterprise can effectively undertake; that no project and no program will be started on the federal level which can be undertaken and effectively carried through on the state or local level."

Some progress has been made in getting the government out of business. Twenty-seven government-owned synthetic rubber plants are slated to go into private hands; the Navy has stopped manufacturing its clothing; the Army has disposed of a chlorine plant, and the assets of the Inland Waterways Corporation have been sold. But government is still involved in a lengthy list of service and manufacturing operations.

CARE CARRIES ON

Officials of CARE, the Cooperative for American Remittances to Everywhere, Inc., as it is officially called, has announced discontinuance of its package service to eight countries of Western Europe. The countries affected are Great Britain, France, Belgium, Austria, Norway, Luxembourg, the Netherlands and West Germany.

The reason for this decision by CARE is that economic recovery has reached the point in these countries where the people can look to their own governments for assistance. This is encouraging news for it means that our allies, battered by World War II, have recovered to the point where they are no longer dependent upon others for helping their own needy.

CARE will continue to aid some European countries and may extend its aid to more countries in Asia. In the years that this worthy organization has existed it has accomplished a great deal of good. It has done more than bring food and comfort to the afflicted. It has let them know that people in more fortunate circumstances care enough about their plight to lend a hand.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE CASE OF McCONNAUGHEY

The appointment of George C. McConnaughey as chairman of the Federal Communications Commission is being held up before the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce because he is experienced in the field. The question that is being raised is whether a citizen having gained practical experience by working in a particular industry over a prolonged period can function independently of his former associations in a government post. If the government cannot dip into private enterprise for competent men, it must limit itself to the clerk type of mind or to lawyers who prefer the security of government jobs to the risks of private practise.

It is a serious problem for our government and one with which the Hoover Commission deals in its report on personnel. How is our government to get men of managerial experience to take positions in the Administration if it is to be held against them that they have had an experience elsewhere than in the Federal Government? For instance, Senator John Bricker, when he was Governor of the State of Ohio, appointed George McConnaughey as Chairman of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio. Subsequently McConnaughey was retained by a number of telephone companies of Ohio. The main objection to his appointment to the FCC post are these associations. The following colloquy is to the point:

"Senator Pastore. Now, how did you come to be engaged by the telephone company in representing them before the commission on a utility rate increase?

"Mr. McConnaughey. I think they employed me because apparently they thought I had some ability. I know that must be true. I wouldn't have been employed otherwise."

It was brought out in the hearings on McConnaughey's confirmation that telephone companies had retained him after he ceased to be Chairman of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio and that therefore he ought not now to be head of the FCC. If this argument holds for him and others, the government is precluded from recruiting able and experienced men to serve in public positions about which they know something.

The argument goes back to those funny stories during the war when ribbon salesmen were put into agencies that dealt with steel while steel experts were appointed to purchase cosmetics for Wacs. How true these stories were, as a general practise, will never be known, but business men did discover that they often dealt with so-called government experts who knew nothing about their business.

The outstanding experts in commercial radio, television, electronics and similar matters will be found in those companies which deal with these commodities. General David Sarnoff of R.C.A., for instance, has served our government in many capacities and to the country's advantage. He is one of the most expert in his field. Is he to be precluded from advising the FCC because his company has business before it? If so, must the FCC be limited to the clerk type of mind, the so-called career official who has had no direct experience with the problems he deals with, or to young lawyers who find government service a stepping-stone to jobs in private industry?

The Hoover Commission advocates establishing a special category of non-career experts in government, who will move in and out of government service. This, of course, does not apply to such posts as the chairmanship of the FCC except in principle; that is, that the country can be best served by men who know. The advantage of the acceptance of such a principle is obvious in the career of Charles E. Wilson as Secretary of Defense. He has done an outstanding job, despite the fact that the company with which he was formerly connected and of which he was the President at the moment of his appointment does an enormous business with his department of the government. No one today thinks of Wilson in terms of his former relationship with General Motors.

The assumption must not hold that men cannot divorce themselves from private interests once they enter government service; otherwise it is impossible to recruit the most competent men for government employment. Rather it is to be assumed that once a citizen is so recruited, he devotes himself to that job with the same efficiency and singleness of purpose that gave him a faborable reputation in private enterprise. This is a question not of one man's appointment but of general policy.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

HEMORRHOIDS OR PILES

One of the most painful and common of human ailments are hemorrhoids (or piles as they are commonly called). These are little lumps or tumors in the veins of the rectum (lower part of large intestine). They are varicose veins, just like the varicose veins found in the legs and elsewhere in the body.

What causes hemorrhoids? It is felt that the tendency to the varicose condition in these veins is inherited. They may be due also to congestion such as constipation, pregnancy, enlarged prostate in males, tumors of the uterus, congestion and hardening of the liver, overweight, constant straining and sitting too long at stool.

There are two common types of hemorrhoids: the external ones which may protrude outside the rectum and the internal type which are up inside the rectum. External hemorrhoids are small, rounded, purplish lumps, hard or soft. There are no symptoms unless they become inflamed. The internal hemorrhoids are purple, soft, irregular in shape. They give a feeling as if the bowel were not completely emptied even after a bowel movement. Bleeding is usually the first symptom noticed by the patient.

In the treatment of hemorrhoids we might consider prevention first. Eat fruit and vegetables to prevent constipation and to keep the stools soft. Plenty of bending exercises cause an extra flow of bile into the intestine and as bile is "Nature's purgative," this helps prevent constipation. Paraffin or mineral oil keeps the wastes lubricated and prevents scratching and irritation of the hemorrhoids.

During an attack, when the "inside" hemorrhoids come down and out, rest in bed; application of witchhazel on absorbent cotton, gently pushing the hemorrhoids back into place in the bowel will be found helpful.

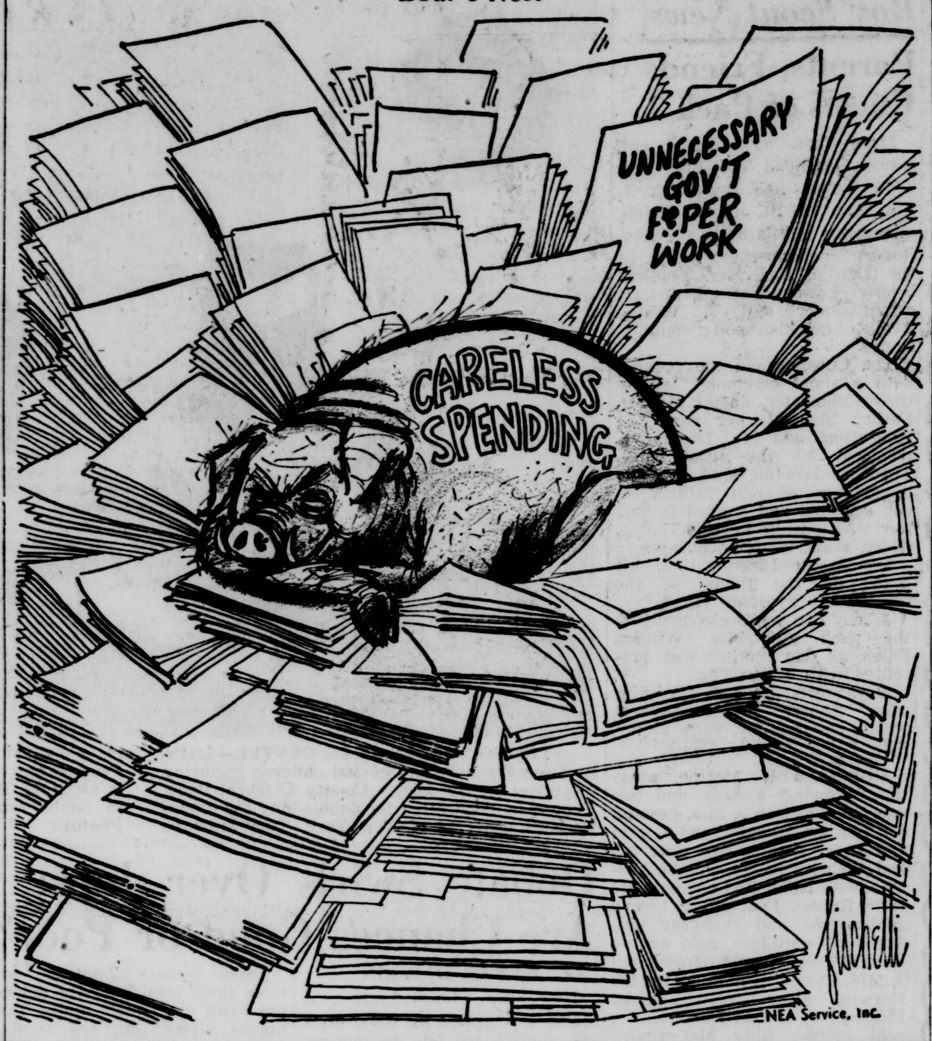

There is also the surgical and injection treatment of hemorrhoids. All hemorrhoids, whether inside or outside, can be removed by surgery. The injection method, on the other hand, cannot be used on "outside" piles or on some of the piles just inside the opening. However, with the hardening solutions now available, a large percentage of the internal piles can be injected in the surgeon's office, thus doing away with hospitalization and loss of time from work. An injection about once a week for a few weeks will destroy the usual number of hemorrhoids present.

Washington, — (NEA) — Congressional courtesy requires that members of one House never criticize the members of the other. In particular, representatives should never; oh never criticize a senator. But Rep. Usher L. Burdick (R.-N.D.) busted this rule wide open the other day in a speech. He didn't deliver this speech on the floor of the House. He just had it inserted in the Congressional Record under "leave to extend his remarks," which will fool his constituents into believing he did say it.

The burden of Burdick's complaint is that senators talk too much.

"You never can tell what the subject is," Representative Burdick said (wrote). "They go into minute details from building a mousetrap to building an atomic bomb, and they are, of course, experts at neither.

"The worst part of the whole procedure is that if a member thinks he has just a mere chance of getting the floor, he has to stay in the chamber and hear all those speeches and grin and bear it. Some do not even grin."

On the other hand, Burdick pointed out it was difficult to make a speech in the lower House. Too many members and not enough time to go round. He found one consolidation in that.

"If you never say anything, you cannot be quoted in the next campaign by some devilish upstart that goes running for your seat in Congress. Silence has brought me through a winner in many campaigns."

THRES IS SOME doubt about Senate confirmantion of Joseph Campbell as Comptroller General because of his former association with the Dixon-Yates power contract when he was a member of the Atomic Energy Commission. In spite of this, Mr. Campbell is carrying on his new job as head of the government's big General Accounting Office just as though he was assured of confirmation.

Mr. Campbell has been investing considerable amount of his own money in a series of business lunches for GAO department heads, to get acquainted and find out what they do. These sessions are being held in the fancy private dining room provided for the comptroller general in the new GAO building.

It's the first time this dining room has ever been used. The former comptroller general, ex-Congressman Lindsay Warren of North Carolina, would never have anything to do with it.

U. S. CONFERENCE of Mayors' "Municipal News" says that if American motorists think radar speed traps and the "point system" for cancelling drivers' licenses are tough, they should go to Saudi Arabia. A new law just passed there provides that:

"If an accident occurs as a result of speed and negligence and does not result in death, the offender will be imprisoned for one year and his driving license will be withdrawn. If an accident results in death of any passengers, and the driver has been the cause, he will be executed whoever he might be."

NEWSPAPERMEN IN Warsaw, Poland, are chuckling over an invitation to an exhibition of Ukranian plastic art, according to a U. S. Information Agency report. The Polish Ministry of Culture and Art sent out richly engraved and embossed invitations. They bore the Communist ministry's seal, and its full title in capital letters.

The big laugh came in the last word of this title, where the Polish word "Ztuki," meaning "Art," appeared as "Szutki," meaning "foolishness."

REP. SIDNEY R. YATES (D., Ill.) thinks that western people don't have a proper appreciation of the Asians. He tells of a recent conversation between an English diplomat and an Asiatic diplomat in the Far East.

When the Asian remarked that he was going to attend the funeral of a friend, the Englishman asked, "Will there be food placed at the grave, as is customary in funerals of your country?"

The Asian replied that he supposed there would be.

"Tell me," asked the Englishman, "when will your friend eat that food?"

"I would say, sir," said the Asian after a pause, "that he will eat it as soon as the friend you buried last week will smell the flowers put on his grave."

U. S. NAVY LEAGUE has determined that for the first time since World War II, this country will have the second largest navy in the world, if proposed 1956 defense budget cuts are carried out. This budget calls for cutting U. S. Navy from 692,000 men to 657,000 men.

The Russian Navy is bigger than that, though Navy League does not specify how much bigger. Russian construction of new cruisers, subs and destroyers is said to be greater than U. S.

The Raven That Founded a Fortune

Sir John Duck, English baron and wealthy land and mine owner, began his career with a gold piece dropped at his feet by a raven. He had come to Durham, England, as a butcher's apprentice. When he couldn't find a job, he wandered in a melancholy mood to the waterside, where a raven dropped the gold coin at his feet. Duck used the coin to establish himself as a butcher; he rose to the top of his trade, and invested in land and coal mines. He became Mayor of Durham in 1680, a Baron in 1686, and died, childless, in 1691.

President Does Not Care to Run Again for Presidency in 1956

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 4—President Eisenhower really doesn't want to be renominated in 1956. There's nothing artful or deceptive about his reluctance. It is genuine.

For many months, however, his closest friends and the members of his official family and the political leaders of the Republican party have been talking to him about their hopes that he would consent to renomination. They take it for granted that he will finally accede to their wishes.

But the position of Mr. Eisenhower as outlined in his latest press conference is revealing. He was asked how he felt about the view of Republican leaders that he was indispensable to a party victory. The reply by the President was as follows:

"DID YOU EVER think what a fate civliization would suffer if there was such a thing as an indispensable man? When he went the way of all flesh what would happen? It would be a calamity, wouldn't it? I don't think we need fear that."

Now Mr. Eisenhower is absolutely logical about it, but he overlooked one important fact—namely, as long as there is an "indispensable man" around, he will be kept in high office. It doesn't always matter, either whether he is in full physical vigor or beyond 65 years of age, as witness the fact that Winston Churchill at 80 is still the most popular and politically the strongest leader the Conservative party in Britain can get at the moment to keep the Labor party out of power.

The words "indispensable man" have a familiar ring to some of us who covered the three-cornered presidential campaign of 1912. It was Woodrow Wilson, the Democratic nominee, who was using the phrase then against Theodore Roosevelt. The latter had served two terms in the presidency—one when as vice president he succeeded McKinley in 1901 after the assassination of McKinley, and the other after his own election in 1904. But nevertheless Mr. Roosevelt was being called a "third termer" in the 1912 campaign and was being offered as an "indispensable man" by the "progressive" faction of the Republican party as against the regular nominee, President Taft. Here is what Mr. Wilson said about it in his formal speech accepting the Democratic nomination in August 1912:

"A PRESIDENTIAL campaign may easily degenerate into a mere personal contest and so lose its real dignity and significance. There is no indispensable man. The government will not collapse and go to pieces if any one of the gentlemen who are seeking to be entrusted with its guidance should be left at home. But men are instruments. We are as important as the cause we represent, and in order to be important must really represent a cause."

Mr. Eisenhower can agree with that argument and find himself accepting the nomination of his own party in 1956. For the President today does represent a great cause—the nation's mandate that he find the way to an honorable peace.

Mr. Eisenhower probably is convinced at the moment that, if his party had to turn elsewhere, it could find a good man who would make an effective campaign based on the Republican record. But this is something to which the party leaders cannot turn their minds as long as Dwight Eisenhower doesn't say the fateful words—that he would not accept if nominated.

THOSE ARE WORDS which, on the other hand, Mr. Eisenhower is never likely to say. They run counter to his high sense of duty. As a military man, he has been accustomed to receiving assignments not geared to his personal convenience or desire. He has learned to recognize instantly a call to duty. He, to be sure, had achieved eminence as the commander-in-chief of allied forces in Europe in the biggest war in history and he had made a great record. He needed no more honors.

Gen. Eisenhower made it clear in 1948 and in 1951 that he didn't want a political career. But he succumed eventually to the argument that it was his duty to serve if the people so desired. And when the people of the country—not just the Republican leaders—say he is needed at the helm in perhaps one of the most dangerous periods in all history, it seems certain that Mr. Eisenhower will put aside his desire for a private life in retirement and continue to serve in the presidency.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

My abstract contemplation of the hairy hummocks on the wrestling program the other night was interrupted by a summons to the devil's advocate which dwells within us all. A propaganda thing flashed on the screen, something called a "spot" in the jargon of the monster which besets our reason with plugs for brotherhood and hatred against all advocates of narrow nationalism.

It was an exhortation. We could help destroy "communism" by sending each a dollar to postmasters who would forward same to Crusade for Freedom to the end that "truth" be wafted on the waves across the Bolshevik frontier to dismal wretches yearning to be free. Each dollar would pay for 100 words of "truth." Although the "spot" did not undertake to say how many units of freedom could be smelted or distilled out of each one hundred words, the implication was plain that this process had yielded measurable results. The involvement of the postmasters all over the country bespoke authority. There was no specific word to that effect nor am I wiser for having read an editorial blurb in Collier's.

Collier's said that "'through the Crusade for Freedom, several million ordinary Americans are waging their own cold war across the border" and that "the results are impressive." The editorial babbled on for an entire column without a syllable of proof and came to a crest with an idiotic boast that "on the record" this crusade deserved gifts of money from Americans. This was silly because no "record" could be winnowed from the stuff presented and I was surprised that even Collier's failed to identify the sponsors except as "The American Heritage Foundation." There are, as Congressman Carroll Reece and his committee found, more than 7,000 foundations in the United States. Most of them are sullen and abusive when asked about their affairs. The title "American Heritage Foundation" is absolutely meaningless to 999 out of 1,000 American citizens of average intelligence.

But my sales resistance was strongest at the point where an anonymous announcer, probably an actor, dwelt on the boast that "truth" would do the trick in the slave quarters of the Soviet Empire. Collier's editorial, by the way, was titled "Bullets for Truth."

Now the truth about truth is that it is a hollow boast with us and a subject to be avoided by honest men who know the truth.

This crusade for freedom will not tell the Czechoslovakian slaves, the Poles, Balts, Ukrainians, Rumanians and all the rest the truth about their delivery into the hands of their masters. They know it well, but reiteration would only rub in a frightful betrayal. It would be truthful to send these people, per little carnival balloon, another means of communication used by this "crusade," reproductions of Eisenhower's picture shaking the bloody hand of his friend, Marshal Zhukov.

But who can imagine a truthful deed that would produce a less desirable result? We might tell them truthfully, that in 1945, when our President was serving in the Pentagon as chief of staff, someone stole from the Intelligence, and apparently destroyed, proof that the Russians, not the Germans, slaughtered 14,000 polish officers and intellectual and political elite rounded up by the Soviet armies after Russia and Nazi Germany had, between them, whacked up the nation. Would we truthfully inform them that a committee of our Congress concluded that this truth was surpressed for the sole purpose of sparing Roosevelt and Soviet Russia reprehension and hatred in the United States?

There is now before Congress a resolution authorizing investigation of one of the most frightful crimes ever committed against the rules of civilized warfare. This was the delivery to Soviet Russia of millions of Russian soldiers and civilians who so hated the Soviet horror that they joined the Germans and finally fell into American custody. These military men were prisoners of war taken by the soldier who is now our President. He owed them protection as such. It was a capital crime in each case to turn them over to Soviet Russia. Instead, however, by whose order we never have learned because the truth is concealed, the government of the United States drove them in hordes into Russian captivity.

In Berlin one day I was getting a treatment known as "briefing" from a young political agent of our State Department which was going serenely until I asked pointedly about these prisoners. Thousands of these people, soldiers and civilians, killed themselves when they realized that we had betrayed them. The brisk young man asked me whether I meant those Russians in German uniform who had killed Americans on the Norman peninsula? I said, yes, those Russian fighters against communism were some of the persons I had in mind. At that very hour in Berlin we were maintaining an armed frontier against the same Russian Communists whom these prisoners of ours were fighting when we took them into camp.

NATIONAL ENGINEERS WEEK

An important event at Hercules Powder Company on February 25 was the meeting of 18 technicians in the Port Ewen plant to commemorate National Engineers Week. As far as we know, it was the only concentrated effort in the area for the observance of the occasion.

Arrangements for the assemblage were made by E. P. Rochford, works manager, and E. K. Lefren, assistant manager, who took cognizance of the important event, and the signficance given to it throughout the nation.

President Eisenhower, in a speech at Washington, D. C., offered congratulations and best wishes to American engineers. Relative to Engineers Week, he said he hoped it "would help increase our citizens' knowledge and appreciation of their debt to this great profession."

Dr. John Jacob Theobald, president of Queens College, Flushing, N. Y., said that "engineers have done an excellent job on the design, production and improvement of the various engineering elements which help make modern society possible."

Men at the Hercules meeting represented a wide cross-section of the country, coming from 11 states and 14 engineering schools. All are on the staff at the Port Ewen plant. They represent the largest group of machine design and development engineers in the company.

Aside from the two groups named, Hercules Port Ewen plant employs chemical, industrial, maintenance, quality control and safety engineers. Their endeavors are in line with operations that keep approximately 1,000 men and women employed by the company's local branch that has been one of the sector's flourishing enterprises since 1914.

PROGRESS REPORTED

President Eisenhower had ordered all government agencies to review their industrial and commercial activities within the next few months to "determine how many of these activities are in competition with private business and how many can reasonably be ended."

That is squarely in line with a statement he made in 1952: "That no federal project large or small will be undertaken which the people can effectively do or be helped to do for themselves; that no federal project will be undertaken which private enterprise can effectively undertake; that no project and no program will be started on the federal level which can be undertaken and effectively carried through on the state or local level."

Some progress has been made in getting the government out of business. Twenty-seven government-owned synthetic rubber plants are slated to go into private hands; the Navy has stopped manufacturing its clothing; the Army has disposed of a chlorine plant, and the assets of the Inland Waterways Corporation have been sold. But government is still involved in a lengthy list of service and manufacturing operations.

CARE CARRIES ON

Officials of CARE, the Cooperative for American Remittances to Everywhere, Inc., as it is officially called, has announced discontinuance of its package service to eight countries of Western Europe. The countries affected are Great Britain, France, Belgium, Austria, Norway, Luxembourg, the Netherlands and West Germany.

The reason for this decision by CARE is that economic recovery has reached the point in these countries where the people can look to their own governments for assistance. This is encouraging news for it means that our allies, battered by World War II, have recovered to the point where they are no longer dependent upon others for helping their own needy.

CARE will continue to aid some European countries and may extend its aid to more countries in Asia. In the years that this worthy organization has existed it has accomplished a great deal of good. It has done more than bring food and comfort to the afflicted. It has let them know that people in more fortunate circumstances care enough about their plight to lend a hand.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE CASE OF McCONNAUGHEY

The appointment of George C. McConnaughey as chairman of the Federal Communications Commission is being held up before the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce because he is experienced in the field. The question that is being raised is whether a citizen having gained practical experience by working in a particular industry over a prolonged period can function independently of his former associations in a government post. If the government cannot dip into private enterprise for competent men, it must limit itself to the clerk type of mind or to lawyers who prefer the security of government jobs to the risks of private practise.

It is a serious problem for our government and one with which the Hoover Commission deals in its report on personnel. How is our government to get men of managerial experience to take positions in the Administration if it is to be held against them that they have had an experience elsewhere than in the Federal Government? For instance, Senator John Bricker, when he was Governor of the State of Ohio, appointed George McConnaughey as Chairman of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio. Subsequently McConnaughey was retained by a number of telephone companies of Ohio. The main objection to his appointment to the FCC post are these associations. The following colloquy is to the point:

"Senator Pastore. Now, how did you come to be engaged by the telephone company in representing them before the commission on a utility rate increase?

"Mr. McConnaughey. I think they employed me because apparently they thought I had some ability. I know that must be true. I wouldn't have been employed otherwise."

It was brought out in the hearings on McConnaughey's confirmation that telephone companies had retained him after he ceased to be Chairman of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio and that therefore he ought not now to be head of the FCC. If this argument holds for him and others, the government is precluded from recruiting able and experienced men to serve in public positions about which they know something.

The argument goes back to those funny stories during the war when ribbon salesmen were put into agencies that dealt with steel while steel experts were appointed to purchase cosmetics for Wacs. How true these stories were, as a general practise, will never be known, but business men did discover that they often dealt with so-called government experts who knew nothing about their business.

The outstanding experts in commercial radio, television, electronics and similar matters will be found in those companies which deal with these commodities. General David Sarnoff of R.C.A., for instance, has served our government in many capacities and to the country's advantage. He is one of the most expert in his field. Is he to be precluded from advising the FCC because his company has business before it? If so, must the FCC be limited to the clerk type of mind, the so-called career official who has had no direct experience with the problems he deals with, or to young lawyers who find government service a stepping-stone to jobs in private industry?

The Hoover Commission advocates establishing a special category of non-career experts in government, who will move in and out of government service. This, of course, does not apply to such posts as the chairmanship of the FCC except in principle; that is, that the country can be best served by men who know. The advantage of the acceptance of such a principle is obvious in the career of Charles E. Wilson as Secretary of Defense. He has done an outstanding job, despite the fact that the company with which he was formerly connected and of which he was the President at the moment of his appointment does an enormous business with his department of the government. No one today thinks of Wilson in terms of his former relationship with General Motors.

The assumption must not hold that men cannot divorce themselves from private interests once they enter government service; otherwise it is impossible to recruit the most competent men for government employment. Rather it is to be assumed that once a citizen is so recruited, he devotes himself to that job with the same efficiency and singleness of purpose that gave him a faborable reputation in private enterprise. This is a question not of one man's appointment but of general policy.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

HEMORRHOIDS OR PILES

One of the most painful and common of human ailments are hemorrhoids (or piles as they are commonly called). These are little lumps or tumors in the veins of the rectum (lower part of large intestine). They are varicose veins, just like the varicose veins found in the legs and elsewhere in the body.

What causes hemorrhoids? It is felt that the tendency to the varicose condition in these veins is inherited. They may be due also to congestion such as constipation, pregnancy, enlarged prostate in males, tumors of the uterus, congestion and hardening of the liver, overweight, constant straining and sitting too long at stool.

There are two common types of hemorrhoids: the external ones which may protrude outside the rectum and the internal type which are up inside the rectum. External hemorrhoids are small, rounded, purplish lumps, hard or soft. There are no symptoms unless they become inflamed. The internal hemorrhoids are purple, soft, irregular in shape. They give a feeling as if the bowel were not completely emptied even after a bowel movement. Bleeding is usually the first symptom noticed by the patient.

In the treatment of hemorrhoids we might consider prevention first. Eat fruit and vegetables to prevent constipation and to keep the stools soft. Plenty of bending exercises cause an extra flow of bile into the intestine and as bile is "Nature's purgative," this helps prevent constipation. Paraffin or mineral oil keeps the wastes lubricated and prevents scratching and irritation of the hemorrhoids.

During an attack, when the "inside" hemorrhoids come down and out, rest in bed; application of witchhazel on absorbent cotton, gently pushing the hemorrhoids back into place in the bowel will be found helpful.

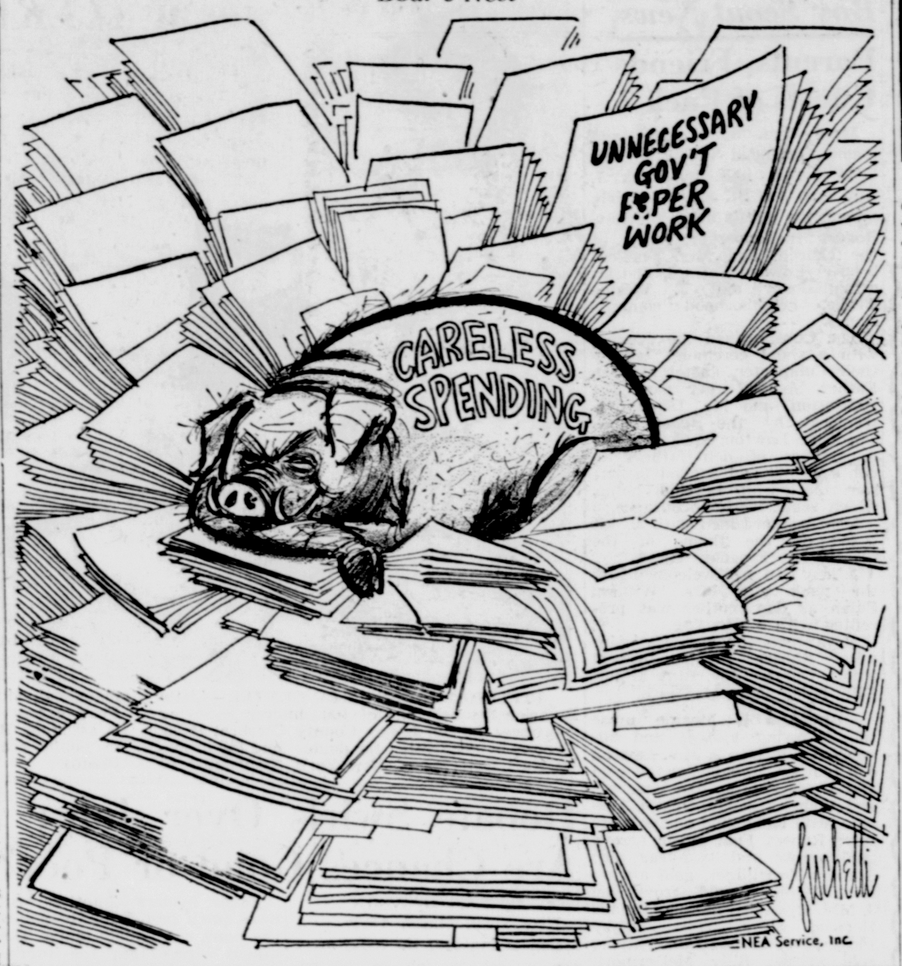

There is also the surgical and injection treatment of hemorrhoids. All hemorrhoids, whether inside or outside, can be removed by surgery. The injection method, on the other hand, cannot be used on "outside" piles or on some of the piles just inside the opening. However, with the hardening solutions now available, a large percentage of the internal piles can be injected in the surgeon's office, thus doing away with hospitalization and loss of time from work. An injection about once a week for a few weeks will destroy the usual number of hemorrhoids present.

Mr. Campbell has been investing considerable amount of his own money in a series of business lunches for GAO department heads, to get acquainted and find out what they do. These sessions are being held in the fancy private dining room provided for the comptroller general in the new GAO building.

It's the first time this dining room has ever been used. The former comptroller general, ex-Congressman Lindsay Warren of North Carolina, would never have anything to do with it.

U. S. CONFERENCE of Mayors' "Municipal News" says that if American motorists think radar speed traps and the "point system" for cancelling drivers' licenses are tough, they should go to Saudi Arabia. A new law just passed there provides that:

"If an accident occurs as a result of speed and negligence and does not result in death, the offender will be imprisoned for one year and his driving license will be withdrawn. If an accident results in death of any passengers, and the driver has been the cause, he will be executed whoever he might be."

NEWSPAPERMEN IN Warsaw, Poland, are chuckling over an invitation to an exhibition of Ukranian plastic art, according to a U. S. Information Agency report. The Polish Ministry of Culture and Art sent out richly engraved and embossed invitations. They bore the Communist ministry's seal, and its full title in capital letters.

The big laugh came in the last word of this title, where the Polish word "Ztuki," meaning "Art," appeared as "Szutki," meaning "foolishness."

REP. SIDNEY R. YATES (D., Ill.) thinks that western people don't have a proper appreciation of the Asians. He tells of a recent conversation between an English diplomat and an Asiatic diplomat in the Far East.

When the Asian remarked that he was going to attend the funeral of a friend, the Englishman asked, "Will there be food placed at the grave, as is customary in funerals of your country?"

The Asian replied that he supposed there would be.

"Tell me," asked the Englishman, "when will your friend eat that food?"

"I would say, sir," said the Asian after a pause, "that he will eat it as soon as the friend you buried last week will smell the flowers put on his grave."

U. S. NAVY LEAGUE has determined that for the first time since World War II, this country will have the second largest navy in the world, if proposed 1956 defense budget cuts are carried out. This budget calls for cutting U. S. Navy from 692,000 men to 657,000 men.

The Russian Navy is bigger than that, though Navy League does not specify how much bigger. Russian construction of new cruisers, subs and destroyers is said to be greater than U. S.

The Raven That Founded a Fortune

Sir John Duck, English baron and wealthy land and mine owner, began his career with a gold piece dropped at his feet by a raven. He had come to Durham, England, as a butcher's apprentice. When he couldn't find a job, he wandered in a melancholy mood to the waterside, where a raven dropped the gold coin at his feet. Duck used the coin to establish himself as a butcher; he rose to the top of his trade, and invested in land and coal mines. He became Mayor of Durham in 1680, a Baron in 1686, and died, childless, in 1691.

President Does Not Care to Run Again for Presidency in 1956

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 4—President Eisenhower really doesn't want to be renominated in 1956. There's nothing artful or deceptive about his reluctance. It is genuine.

For many months, however, his closest friends and the members of his official family and the political leaders of the Republican party have been talking to him about their hopes that he would consent to renomination. They take it for granted that he will finally accede to their wishes.

But the position of Mr. Eisenhower as outlined in his latest press conference is revealing. He was asked how he felt about the view of Republican leaders that he was indispensable to a party victory. The reply by the President was as follows:

"DID YOU EVER think what a fate civliization would suffer if there was such a thing as an indispensable man? When he went the way of all flesh what would happen? It would be a calamity, wouldn't it? I don't think we need fear that."

Now Mr. Eisenhower is absolutely logical about it, but he overlooked one important fact—namely, as long as there is an "indispensable man" around, he will be kept in high office. It doesn't always matter, either whether he is in full physical vigor or beyond 65 years of age, as witness the fact that Winston Churchill at 80 is still the most popular and politically the strongest leader the Conservative party in Britain can get at the moment to keep the Labor party out of power.

The words "indispensable man" have a familiar ring to some of us who covered the three-cornered presidential campaign of 1912. It was Woodrow Wilson, the Democratic nominee, who was using the phrase then against Theodore Roosevelt. The latter had served two terms in the presidency—one when as vice president he succeeded McKinley in 1901 after the assassination of McKinley, and the other after his own election in 1904. But nevertheless Mr. Roosevelt was being called a "third termer" in the 1912 campaign and was being offered as an "indispensable man" by the "progressive" faction of the Republican party as against the regular nominee, President Taft. Here is what Mr. Wilson said about it in his formal speech accepting the Democratic nomination in August 1912:

"A PRESIDENTIAL campaign may easily degenerate into a mere personal contest and so lose its real dignity and significance. There is no indispensable man. The government will not collapse and go to pieces if any one of the gentlemen who are seeking to be entrusted with its guidance should be left at home. But men are instruments. We are as important as the cause we represent, and in order to be important must really represent a cause."

Mr. Eisenhower can agree with that argument and find himself accepting the nomination of his own party in 1956. For the President today does represent a great cause—the nation's mandate that he find the way to an honorable peace.

Mr. Eisenhower probably is convinced at the moment that, if his party had to turn elsewhere, it could find a good man who would make an effective campaign based on the Republican record. But this is something to which the party leaders cannot turn their minds as long as Dwight Eisenhower doesn't say the fateful words—that he would not accept if nominated.

THOSE ARE WORDS which, on the other hand, Mr. Eisenhower is never likely to say. They run counter to his high sense of duty. As a military man, he has been accustomed to receiving assignments not geared to his personal convenience or desire. He has learned to recognize instantly a call to duty. He, to be sure, had achieved eminence as the commander-in-chief of allied forces in Europe in the biggest war in history and he had made a great record. He needed no more honors.

Gen. Eisenhower made it clear in 1948 and in 1951 that he didn't want a political career. But he succumed eventually to the argument that it was his duty to serve if the people so desired. And when the people of the country—not just the Republican leaders—say he is needed at the helm in perhaps one of the most dangerous periods in all history, it seems certain that Mr. Eisenhower will put aside his desire for a private life in retirement and continue to serve in the presidency.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

My abstract contemplation of the hairy hummocks on the wrestling program the other night was interrupted by a summons to the devil's advocate which dwells within us all. A propaganda thing flashed on the screen, something called a "spot" in the jargon of the monster which besets our reason with plugs for brotherhood and hatred against all advocates of narrow nationalism.

It was an exhortation. We could help destroy "communism" by sending each a dollar to postmasters who would forward same to Crusade for Freedom to the end that "truth" be wafted on the waves across the Bolshevik frontier to dismal wretches yearning to be free. Each dollar would pay for 100 words of "truth." Although the "spot" did not undertake to say how many units of freedom could be smelted or distilled out of each one hundred words, the implication was plain that this process had yielded measurable results. The involvement of the postmasters all over the country bespoke authority. There was no specific word to that effect nor am I wiser for having read an editorial blurb in Collier's.

Collier's said that "through the Crusade for Freedom, several million ordinary Americans are waging their own cold war across the border" and that "the results are impressive." The editorial babbled on for an entire column without a syllable of proof and came to a crest with an idiotic boast that "on the record" this crusade deserved gifts of money from Americans. This was silly because no "record" could be winnowed from the stuff presented and I was surprised that even Collier's failed to identify the sponsors except as "The American Heritage Foundation." There are, as Congressman Carroll Reece and his committee found, more than 7,000 foundations in the United States. Most of them are sullen and abusive when asked about their affairs. The title "American Heritage Foundation" is absolutely meaningless to 999 out of 1,000 American citizens of average intelligence.

But my sales resistance was strongest at the point where an anonymous announcer, probably an actor, dwelt on the boast that "truth" would do the trick in the slave quarters of the Soviet Empire. Collier's editorial, by the way, was titled "Bullets for Truth."

Now the truth about truth is that it is a hollow boast with us and a subject to be avoided by honest men who know the truth.

This crusade for freedom will not tell the Czechoslovakian slaves, the Poles, Balts, Ukrainians, Rumanians and all the rest the truth about their delivery into the hands of their masters. They know it well, but reiteration would only rub in a frightful betrayal. It would be truthful to send these people, per little carnival balloon, another means of communication used by this "crusade," reproductions of Eisenhower's picture shaking the bloody hand of his friend, Marshal Zhukov.

But who can imagine a truthful deed that would produce a less desirable result? We might tell them truthfully, that in 1945, when our President was serving in the Pentagon as chief of staff, someone stole from the Intelligence, and apparently destroyed, proof that the Russians, not the Germans, slaughtered 14,000 polish officers and intellectual and political elite rounded up by the Soviet armies after Russia and Nazi Germany had, between them, whacked up the nation. Would we truthfully inform them that a committee of our Congress concluded that this truth was surpressed for the sole purpose of sparing Roosevelt and Soviet Russia reprehension and hatred in the United States?

There is now before Congress a resolution authorizing investigation of one of the most frightful crimes ever committed against the rules of civilized warfare. This was the delivery to Soviet Russia of millions of Russian soldiers and civilians who so hated the Soviet horror that they joined the Germans and finally fell into American custody. These military men were prisoners of war taken by the soldier who is now our President. He owed them protection as such. It was a capital crime in each case to turn them over to Soviet Russia. Instead, however, by whose order we never have learned because the truth is concealed, the government of the United States drove them in hordes into Russian captivity.

In Berlin one day I was getting a treatment known as "briefing" from a young political agent of our State Department which was going serenely until I asked pointedly about these prisoners. Thousands of these people, soldiers and civilians, killed themselves when they realized that we had betrayed them. The brisk young man asked me whether I meant those Russians in German uniform who had killed Americans on the Norman peninsula? I said, yes, those Russian fighters against communism were some of the persons I had in mind. At that very hour in Berlin we were maintaining an armed frontier against the same Russian Communists whom these prisoners of ours were fighting when we took them into camp.

South ruffed another club to get back to his hand and led another low heart towards dummy. West again discarded a club, his last, and dummy ruffed.

At this stage, declarer had taken eight tricks. He led a low diamond from the dummy and ruffed with the ace. Then he led his last heart toward dummy. West couldn't prevent dummy's queen of trumps from furnishing declarer's tenth trick.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Fla., March 3—In view of the latest news from Russia, businessmen and investors are much excited regarding the new book published by D. Van Nostrand Co., Inc., New York City, entitled Influence of Force in Foreign Relations. As the author, Captain W. D. Puleston, is a neighbor of mine and recently gave a most dynamic address at the Webber College Winter Conference, I must comment thereon and advise everyone to read it.

CAPTAIN PULESTON told me last spring of these "mistakes." Shortly thereafter, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the late President's wife, was visiting my home in Wellesley Hills, Massachusetts. I asked her what she thought of these "mistakes" for which the Democratic Administrations were reported responsible. Mrs. Roosevelt answered: "Well, notwithstanding Captain Puleston's so-called 'mistakes,' we won two wars, didn't we, Mr. Babson? Perhaps someone should now write a book on the Eighteen Master-strokes which won these two wars!"

Personally I believe that, although a fearless critic, Captain Puleston is eminently fair in his judgments. He emphasizes mistakes made by Republican statesmen such as Root, Hughes, Kellogg, Stimson, and President Hoover equally with those made by Presidents Wilson and Roosevelt. He points to Wilson's statesman-like, but unheeded, appeal to European leaders in 1916 to seek a "peace without victory." Similarly, Puletson has pointed to mistakes made by miiltary as well as diplomatic leaders. He carefully cites proof showing the undue subordination of the trained military to untrained civilians. Politics, between 1909 and 1941, by weakening our armed forces, caused first Germany and then Japan to attack us on the incorrect asumption that they could defeat us before we could prepare to fight.

BUSINESSMEN AND investors want to know what Captain Puleston thinks we should do now. This is it: Increase the nation's defenses, particularly the strategic industrial areas, against air attacks; devise more efficient methods to prevent delivery of bombs, or retention of any such bombs now held in the country by enemy agents; keep a large proportion of our land, sea, and air forces, particularly fighting planes, always on the alert; prohibit the entry of unidentified planes into certain important areas; finally, and most important, decide now that we will never again await an "overt enemy attack."

Americans have been led to believe that their government is committed to awaiting an enemy attack with nuclear bombs. Puleston points to an honorable and long-accepted middle course, namely, if an enemy nation, possessing the ability to destroy us, disposes its forces in position to do so, we should immediately mobilize and station our forces in position to strike the enemy and defend the United States. When in all respects we are ready, inform the hostile government that if within 48 hours it does not demobilize its forces, we will take any or all measures to protect our country. If the potential attack should be immediately delivered, as mobilized, we would get an even break; if the enemy then demobilizes we can prevent war. If, in spite of our warning, it continues to hold its forces ready to spring surprise attacks, we should then strike first. Under International Law, having given the foe fair warning, we would be fully justified, claims the captain.

IN CASE WE ARE in World War 3 or "sitting on a keg of uranium" in November 1956, it seems as if President Eisenhower would be certain of re-election. I cannot imagine a better-trained man for the Presidency under such a condition. Whether or not the Republican strategists have this in mind, I leave to you readers to decide. The Presidential election coming next year certainly complicates the situation. Certainly, the character and location of each industry should be most carefully considered. Also read "The Natural Cycle of Government," an important mimeographed brochure, written and published by Edison E. Shrum of Fornfelt, Missouri.

READERS SHOULD study the history of Formosa before deciding what attitude the United Nations will take. The fact that Formosa was a part of China for centuries until 1895, when China was forced to "give" it to the Japanese. The Japanese developed Formosa and made it what it is today. At the close of World War 2, the Japanese were compelled to give up Formosa and return it to China. Strictly speaking, there are two Chinas today—the mainland under Communist administration—and Formosa under the conservative Chiang Kai-shek. Both claim sole representation in the United Nations. Thus far only Formosa, ruled by Chiang Kai-shek, is a member of the United Nations.

ALTHOUGH WE should hold Formosa for the present, I forecast that Formosa will sometime again be an integral part of China which will have a compromise government such as General Marshall recommended. Before then both Chinas will be members of the United Nations. I further forecast that World War 3 will be avoided for this year at least. Even though Captain Puleston seems logical in saying that only by "striking first," after fair warning, can we avoid being destroyed, I doubt if the American people would support "striking first" based only on Formosa. Yet, the recent vote of Congress indicates that we might. Certainly, we are in a very critical situation.

BUSINESSMEN WILL be tempted at least to postpone capital expenditures until the air becomes clearer. Investors will consider the stock market very selective. Even now investors are purchasing mainly the aircrafts, metals, and oils, together with certain other stocks which should prosper as "war babies." Wise investors will probably not buy stocks of companies in large cities vulnerable to bombing. Furthermore, all investors should keep in mind the probability that prices, wages, and money rates would probably be "fixed" immediately at the start of any World War 3, and a severe profits tax be re-enacted. President Eisenhower might veto some of this legislation; but with the Democrats in control of Congress it could be passed over the President's veto in view of Russia's attitude.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Fla., March 3—In view of the latest news from Russia, businessmen and investors are much excited regarding the new book published by D. Van Nostrand Co., Inc., New York City, entitled Influence of Force in Foreign Relations. As the author, Captain W. D. Puleston, is a neighbor of mine and recently gave a most dynamic address at the Webber College Winter Conference, I must comment thereon and advise everyone to read it.

CAPTAIN PULESTON told me last spring of these "mistakes." Shortly thereafter, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the late President's wife, was visiting my home in Wellesley Hills, Massachusetts. I asked her what she thought of these "mistakes" for which the Democratic Administrations were reported responsible. Mrs. Roosevelt answered: "Well, notwithstanding Captain Puleston's so-called 'mistakes,' we won two wars, didn't we, Mr. Babson? Perhaps someone should now write a book on the Eighteen Master-strokes which won these two wars!"

Personally I believe that, although a fearless critic, Captain Puleston is eminently fair in his judgments. He emphasizes mistakes made by Republican statesmen such as Root, Hughes, Kellogg, Stimson, and President Hoover equally with those made by Presidents Wilson and Roosevelt. He points to Wilson's statesman-like, but unheeded, appeal to European leaders in 1916 to seek a "peace without victory." Similarly, Puletson has pointed to mistakes made by miiltary as well as diplomatic leaders. He carefully cites proof showing the undue subordination of the trained military to untrained civilians. Politics, between 1909 and 1941, by weakening our armed forces, caused first Germany and then Japan to attack us on the incorrect asumption that they could defeat us before we could prepare to fight.

BUSINESSMEN AND investors want to know what Captain Puleston thinks we should do now. This is it: Increase the nation's defenses, particularly the strategic industrial areas, against air attacks; devise more efficient methods to prevent delivery of bombs, or retention of any such bombs now held in the country by enemy agents; keep a large proportion of our land, sea, and air forces, particularly fighting planes, always on the alert; prohibit the entry of unidentified planes into certain important areas; finally, and most important, decide now that we will never again await an "overt enemy attack."

Americans have been led to believe that their government is committed to awaiting an enemy attack with nuclear bombs. Puleston points to an honorable and long-accepted middle course, namely, if an enemy nation, possessing the ability to destroy us, disposes its forces in position to do so, we should immediately mobilize and station our forces in position to strike the enemy and defend the United States. When in all respects we are ready, inform the hostile government that if within 48 hours it does not demobilize its forces, we will take any or all measures to protect our country. If the potential attack should be immediately delivered, as mobilized, we would get an even break; if the enemy then demobilizes we can prevent war. If, in spite of our warning, it continues to hold its forces ready to spring surprise attacks, we should then strike first. Under International Law, having given the foe fair warning, we would be fully justified, claims the captain.

IN CASE WE ARE in World War 3 or "sitting on a keg of uranium" in November 1956, it seems as if President Eisenhower would be certain of re-election. I cannot imagine a better-trained man for the Presidency under such a condition. Whether or not the Republican strategists have this in mind, I leave to you readers to decide. The Presidential election coming next year certainly complicates the situation. Certainly, the character and location of each industry should be most carefully considered. Also read "The Natural Cycle of Government," an important mimeographed brochure, written and published by Edison E. Shrum of Fornfelt, Missouri.

READERS SHOULD study the history of Formosa before deciding what attitude the United Nations will take. The fact that Formosa was a part of China for centuries until 1895, when China was forced to "give" it to the Japanese. The Japanese developed Formosa and made it what it is today. At the close of World War 2, the Japanese were compelled to give up Formosa and return it to China. Strictly speaking, there are two Chinas today—the mainland under Communist administration—and Formosa under the conservative Chiang Kai-shek. Both claim sole representation in the United Nations. Thus far only Formosa, ruled by Chiang Kai-shek, is a member of the United Nations.

ALTHOUGH WE should hold Formosa for the present, I forecast that Formosa will sometime again be an integral part of China which will have a compromise government such as General Marshall recommended. Before then both Chinas will be members of the United Nations. I further forecast that World War 3 will be avoided for this year at least. Even though Captain Puleston seems logical in saying that only by "striking first," after fair warning, can we avoid being destroyed, I doubt if the American people would support "striking first" based only on Formosa. Yet, the recent vote of Congress indicates that we might. Certainly, we are in a very critical situation.

BUSINESSMEN WILL be tempted at least to postpone capital expenditures until the air becomes clearer. Investors will consider the stock market very selective. Even now investors are purchasing mainly the aircrafts, metals, and oils, together with certain other stocks which should prosper as "war babies." Wise investors will probably not buy stocks of companies in large cities vulnerable to bombing. Furthermore, all investors should keep in mind the probability that prices, wages, and money rates would probably be "fixed" immediately at the start of any World War 3, and a severe profits tax be re-enacted. President Eisenhower might veto some of this legislation; but with the Democrats in control of Congress it could be passed over the President's veto in view of Russia's attitude.

Fewer Prairie Chickens

Lansing, Mich. (AP)—The prairie chicken, once plentiful in Michigan, now is fighting a losing battle for existence. Its No. 1 enemy, says the State Department of Conservation, is civilization. Now, the department says, the bird has been squeezed into a pocket in the northeastern part of the Lower Peninsula and into only two colonies in the Upper Peninsula.

Successful Laundering

Successful laundering starts in the store. Pick fabrics that you know will launder with ease, not run and not shred. Be picky about pinked or taped seams, good hems, stout construction.

Mrs. Clyde Decker of Freeport, L. I., recently spent several days at the home of her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lewelyn Beardsley.

The Ivanhoe Lodge of the Knights of Pythias met Tuesday night with 28 members attending. In a special ceremony the lodge paid tribute to Dr. L. J. Merritt, in honor of his 83rd birthday. Dr. Merritt was escorted to the chair of the Chancellor Commander and he then assumed that office for the remainder of the meeting. He was presented with a beautifully decorated birthday cake which he turned over to the lodge for part of the evening's refreshments. Dr. Merritt is a member of the Hiawatha Lodge in Pine Bush, being a past chancellor commander of that lodge and he has been an honorary member of the Ivanhoe Lodge for some time. At the business meeting a discussion was, held concerning the possibility of obtaining films to be shown following the meetings. The date for the semi-annual roast beef dinner was set for Wednesday, April 20. The new pinochle tournament was started Tuesday night with William Tucker's team leading Lester Terwilliger's by six games. The monthly public card party will be held Friday, March 4, at 8 p. m., in the lodge rooms. Co-chairmen are Ira Tuthill and C. E. Penney.

The closely guarded Shinkolobwe mine in the Belgian Congo is rated as the world's richest uranium deposit, says the National Geographic Society.

Explains Estates

Herman J. Eaton, of the insurance agency that bears his name, was the speaker at the regular luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Thursday. He stressed the importance of proper estate planning and noted that making advance plans can effect considerable tax savings in the case of those whose states total $60,000 or more.

To Restore Whiteness

If your white woolens are yellowing, it's not because they're reverting to their original color. They've been subjected to soap with too much alkali in it or chlorine bleaches or sun drying. Use only hydrogen peroxide or sodium perborate to restore whiteness.

THE RECORD SHOP: The DeJohn Sisters are setting a new style, with their quaint way of turning one syllable words like "more" into two. That word "more," for instance, comes out "maw-er," as in their Epic hit, "No More." Others are copying the custom, so one syllable words may be on their way out.

Li-fe ge'ets maw-er complicated every da-ay.

Capitol records may have fallen heir to a coming star in an unusual way. The company was bought recently by a European outfit, EMI. Among EMI's stars on the old continent was a French singer, Line Renaud.

A month or so back, Miss Renaud was brought over here by Bob Hope, and wangled an engagement at the Empire Room of the Waldorf-Astoria. Record scouts saw her and decided she had it. But Capitol sat back; through their new owners, they already had her safely signed. On the dotted line.

Virtually every record company has made a version of "The Ballad of Davey Crockett." It will almost certainly be one of 1953's biggest hits, and many people feel it's the kind of song that will become a standard. The artist who stands to profit most from this is Bill Hayes. Bill's record of the song, on the Cadence label, is so far the leading seller. It was first. It may not be best, but it's close. And it may bring Bill, at long last, the record fame he deserves.

RCA's latest swoon boy, Tony Travis, owes his latest racket to an older racket—a tennis racket. He plays tennis occasionally in California with Dinah Shore and one day he pulled a record out of his golf bag (or whatever people carry tennis rackets in) and said it was made by a friend.

Dinah played it, liked it, and said, "Who's your friend?" It was Tony himself, of course, and before you could say Don Budge he was a guest on Dinah's show. Then RCA heard him, and now he's a coming star.

Tennis, anyone?

DICK'S PICKS: The Mariners have a great one in "I Didn't Come to Say Hello" (Columbia) and Nelson Riddle's new Capitol record, "The Pendulum Song" is a terrific novelty. Others: "Sweet Brown-Eyed Baby" (Ames Brothers, RCA); "Huk-Huk" (Lola Dee, Mercury); "Seven Long Years" (Norma Ellis, MGM); "Apple On a Pear Tree" (Polly Bergen, Jubilee); "D-E-V-I-L" (Mike Pedicin Quintette, RCA); "Crazy Otto Rag" (Hugo and Luigi, Mercury).

Two Broadway musicals for your living room — "House of Flowers," with Pearl Bailey (Columbia) and "Plain and Fancy" on Capitol. The former has some nice Harold Arlen tunes, but lyrically isn't great. "Plain and Fancy" has no big names, but the music is delightful.

Two orchestral recordings worthy of classic note: Reiner and the Chicago Symphony team up with the Sauter-Finegan Orchestra on Liebermann's interesting "Concerto for Jazz Band and Symphony Orchestra" on RCA. From Angel comes Cluytens and the Orchestre National de la Radiodiffusion Francaise with a lovely recording of Bizet's Symphony in C and Patrie Overture.

Linda Christian Would Keep Gift

Los Angeles, March 4 (AP)—Actress Linda Christian explained in an 80-page affidavit why she doesn't plan to return $132,000 worth of jewelry given her by Robert H. Schlesinger of Milwaukee. She summed it up in five words: "A gift is a gift."

The deposition was filed yesterday in Superior Court. Tyrone Power's estranged wife told of accepting the jewelry from Schlesinger shortly after they met in New York last November.

The New York firm of Van Cleef and Arpels sued for return of the jewels last January, charging that a $100,000 check tendered by Schlesinger as part payment bounced.

MISS CHRISTIAN said in the affidavit she told Schlesinger that if he couldn't pay for the jewels his family has the means to help him. She said he gave her an imperial jade ring for her birthday, Nov. 17, in the bar of the Plaza Hotel. Later, he gave her earrings and a diamond bracelet, and on Christmas he presented a diamond necklace.

The actress denied that any of the gifts were presented in Schlesinger's New York apartment. "I've been to his apartment only once, at a cocktail party," she said.

Miss Christian said Schlesinger never asked her to return the jewelry, but that after the litigation was started, his family asker her to return them.

Maybe it's better to go bankrupt than never to have loved at all.

Gettysburg Has 25 Scholarships

Gettsburg, Pa., March 3—Competitive examinations for 25 scholarships will be administered at Gettsyburg College, Saturday, March 19. Winners of the scholarships, which are based on the scores of the scholastic aptitude test of the college entrance examination board and the March 19 competitive scores, will enter Gettysburg in September.

A complete program, including guided tours of the Gettysburg battlefield and college campus, is planned for all parents and participants who visit the campus on March 19. The examinations are open only to secondary school seniors who rank scholastically in the upper 25 per cent of their class, and a notice of intention to participate must be filed with the Dean of Admissions, Gettsyburg College, on or before March 11.

The following scholarships will be awarded the winners: 16 scholarships totaling $400 each; three totaling $600 each; two totaling $800 each; two totaling $1,200 each; and two totaling $1,900 each.

It was long believed that the Tory newspaper, the Royal American, suspended publication in New York city, Aug. 1, 1783, but the New York Historical Society has acquired what it says is the only known copy of an issue published Aug. 7, 1873.

By DICK KLEINER

THE RECORD SHOP: The DeJohn Sisters are setting a new style, with their quaint way of turning one syllable words like "more" into two. That word "more," for instance, comes out "maw-er," as in their Epic hit, "No More." Others are copying the custom, so one syllable words may be on their way out.

Li-fe ge'ets maw-er complicated every da-ay.

Capitol records may have fallen heir to a coming star in an unusual way. The company was bought recently by a European outfit, EMI. Among EMI's stars on the old continent was a French singer, Line Renaud.

A month or so back, Miss Renaud was brought over here by Bob Hope, and wangled an engagement at the Empire Room of the Waldorf-Astoria. Record scouts saw her and decided she had it. But Capitol sat back; through their new owners, they already had her safely signed. On the dotted line.

Virtually every record company has made a version of "The Ballad of Davey Crockett." It will almost certainly be one of 1953's biggest hits, and many people feel it's the kind of song that will become a standard. The artist who stands to profit most from this is Bill Hayes. Bill's record of the song, on the Cadence label, is so far the leading seller. It was first. It may not be best, but it's close. And it may bring Bill, at long last, the record fame he deserves.

RCA's latest swoon boy, Tony Travis, owes his latest racket to an older racket—a tennis racket. He plays tennis occasionally in California with Dinah Shore and one day he pulled a record out of his golf bag (or whatever people carry tennis rackets in) and said it was made by a friend.

Dinah played it, liked it, and said, "Who's your friend?" It was Tony himself, of course, and before you could say Don Budge he was a guest on Dinah's show. Then RCA heard him, and now he's a coming star.

Tennis, anyone?

DICK'S PICKS: The Mariners have a great one in "I Didn't Come to Say Hello" (Columbia) and Nelson Riddle's new Capitol record, "The Pendulum Song" is a terrific novelty. Others: "Sweet Brown-Eyed Baby" (Ames Brothers, RCA); "Huk-Huk" (Lola Dee, Mercury); "Seven Long Years" (Norma Ellis, MGM); "Apple On a Pear Tree" (Polly Bergen, Jubilee); "D-E-V-I-L" (Mike Pedicin Quintette, RCA); "Crazy Otto Rag" (Hugo and Luigi, Mercury).

Two Broadway musicals for your living room — "House of Flowers," with Pearl Bailey (Columbia) and "Plain and Fancy" on Capitol. The former has some nice Harold Arlen tunes, but lyrically isn't great. "Plain and Fancy" has no big names, but the music is delightful.

Two orchestral recordings worthy of classic note: Reiner and the Chicago Symphony team up with the Sauter-Finegan Orchestra on Liebermann's interesting "Concerto for Jazz Band and Symphony Orchestra" on RCA. From Angel comes Cluytens and the Orchestre National de la Radiodiffusion Francaise with a lovely recording of Bizet's Symphony in C and Patrie Overture.

Linda Christian Would Keep Gift

Los Angeles, March 4 (AP)—Actress Linda Christian explained in an 80-page affidavit why she doesn't plan to return $132,000 worth of jewelry given her by Robert H. Schlesinger of Milwaukee. She summed it up in five words: "A gift is a gift."

The deposition was filed yesterday in Superior Court. Tyrone Power's estranged wife told of accepting the jewelry from Schlesinger shortly after they met in New York last November.

The New York firm of Van Cleef and Arpels sued for return of the jewels last January, charging that a $100,000 check tendered by Schlesinger as part payment bounced.

MISS CHRISTIAN said in the affidavit she told Schlesinger that if he couldn't pay for the jewels his family has the means to help him. She said he gave her an imperial jade ring for her birthday, Nov. 17, in the bar of the Plaza Hotel. Later, he gave her earrings and a diamond bracelet, and on Christmas he presented a diamond necklace.

The actress denied that any of the gifts were presented in Schlesinger's New York apartment. "I've been to his apartment only once, at a cocktail party," she said.

Miss Christian said Schlesinger never asked her to return the jewelry, but that after the litigation was started, his family asker her to return them.

Maybe it's better to go bankrupt than never to have loved at all.

Queen Esther Ball March 12 Will Be Feature of Purim Festival at Jewish Center

The second annual Queen Esther Ball, celebrating the Feast of Purim, has been set for Saturday evening, March 12, in the Skyroom of the Jewish Community Center, according to Attorney Abraham Streifer, president of the board of directors, who said, "This traditional celebration commemorates the victory over Haman, prototype of all the persecutors of the Jewish people in every country and age. Its story affirms the indestructibility of the Jewish people and directs attention to the miracle of their eternal survival."

"The Queen Esther Ball," President Streifer stressed, "is jointly sponsored by the Jewish Community Center and the congregations and other organizations of the Kingston Jewish Community. The Purim ball is a family affair, planned so that both adults and teenagers may participate in the event together."

This year's Queen Esther and Prince Mordecai will be selected from among the teenagers present by their own voting. In addition, the junior co-ed group of the Center, representing the youth in junior high school, will choose from among their own group the Lady-in-Waiting to Queen Esther and the Gentlemen-in-Attendance to Prince Mordecai."

Mrs. Murray Greene, chairman of the second annual Queen Esther Ball, pointed out that last year's Queen Esther, Miss Marilyn Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sid Black, would reign during the evening until she crowned the new Queen. Her lady-in-waiting, Miss Carol Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rose, will serve Queen Marilyn. Stuart Buchbinder, last year's Prince Mordecai, has moved to another city with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Buchbinder; in his stead Queen Marilyn will invite her consort. Stanley Parnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Parnett, will complete the royal party as gentleman-in-waiting, until their successors are chosen.

IN ADDITION to the highlight event of voting in this year's royal entourage for the Queen Esther Ball, there will be many gay and exciting booths offering bazaar like entertainment features. These booths will be manned by the members of both center groups and community organization sponsors of the ball. The traditional pastry hat (the hamantasch) will be the main refreshment delectation. And all will be embellished by the music of Harry Maisenhelder and his orchestra, from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m.

Mrs. Greene noted that the community affairs at the center have always been noteworthy not only for the program content, but also because of the appropriate and beautiful decorations. This year's Queen Esther Ball, she said, will maintain the high level of decor achievement, which is being planned and executed by a committee headed by Leon Crystal, with the assistance of various teenage groups. As in past events, S. Lewis Gaber, executive director of the Jewish Community Center is serving as the coordinator of the Queen Esther Ball.

Since last year's event was so successful, Mrs. Greene urges that people planning to attend complete their parties and notify the center so that sufficient accommodations may be provided for all. This invitation is extended to the entire Kingston community.

Home Bureau

THE ULSTER COUNTY HOME BUREAU was represented at a regional meeting of County Home Bureau executive committees, held Tuesday, March 1, at the Extension Service headquarters, in Poughkeepsie, by Mrs. Millard Davis of Kerhonkson, Mrs. William Cranston of Kingston, Mrs. Carlton Beach of High Falls, Mrs. David Bell of Milton, Mrs. Earl Haley of Ellenville, and the county home demonstration agents, Miss Everice Parsons and Mrs. Helen Stantial.

Miss Hazel Reed, associate state leader of home demonstration agents, presided at a discussion of future policies of the organization.

BLOOMINGDALE UNIT of the Home Bureau will hold an all-day meeting March 8, starting at 10 a. m. at the Bloomington Reformed Church. Huck towels are on hand and a lesson will be taught on weaving by Mrs. Miller. All members are requested to bring a strand of embroidery thread and a tapestry needle. A short business meeting will be held at 2 p. m.

WILTWYCK UNIT HELD its regular meeting Tuesday at the meeting room and saw the film, Guard Your Heart, shown by Joseph J. Merola of the Uuster County TB and Health Association. There was a lecture by Dr. Herbert Schwartz. Projects were finished on sewing and kid gloves. New classes were formed on lamp bases and shades.

Allan Sloan Portraits of Local Children Will Be Exhibited Monday Evening at Hotel

Young Andrew Cook, third, sat quietly with his hands folded in his lap surveying his likeness in a wax crayon portrait. Then with a shy smile and a shrug of his shoulders, he looked up at his mother, Mrs. Andrew Cook, Jr., and voiced his full approval.

THE CHARMING portrait, which caught a particular expression of Young Master Cook, was done by Allan Sloan, famous artist who now makes his home in Woodstock. Tall, distinguished Mr. Sloan completed the likeness in less than an hour, working in the Cook home, Presidents Place, Tuesday afternoon. The appointment for the portrait sitting was made through the Kingston Junior League.

While Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Robert MacKinnon chatted in the living room, the artist began his portrait of the young man in the room adjoining.

Andrew sat in a chair opposite the artist, the picture of patience as the deft hand of Mr. Sloan brought color and life to the paper. Both subject and artist moved into the living room when the sun caused Andrew to squint. Pausing only long enough for coffee served by Mrs. Cook, Mr. Sloan's practiced hand filled in the last touch of color before there was any sign of restlessness from his subject.

"I HAD to discipline myself to one-hour sittings," Mr. Sloan remarked when asked if he had developed a special technique of drawing, "because when the subject is a child, he becomes restless very quickly."

ANDREW COOK, third was certainly a "model" model. But from his experience, Mr. Sloan observes that girls are better than boys at posing, "they're a little more vain."

Beginning his studies in his native city of Cleveland, O., at the Cleveland School of Art, he continued at the National Academy of Design in New York, and attended summer classes in Provincetown under Charles Hawthorne and with John Carlson in Woodstock, where he now makes his home.

On his return to Cleveland in 1926, following two years spent painting in Paris and on the Riviera, he began his life as a portrait painter. He has exhibited in Washington, Beverly Hills, where many children of the movie colony were painted and drawn, and in St. Petersburg. In New York, there have been exhibitions at the Morton Galleries and the Junior League. Mr. Sloan spent the war years as production illustrator at a General Motors aircraft plant in Cleveland, and since the war, his work has been available through Portraits, Inc. Frequent exhibits have taken place in his adopted home town, Woodstock.

HIS UNUSUAL portraits of children were done at Saks Fifth avenue store in 1937 to 1940, and again last year.

Portraits by Mr. Sloan of six local children will be on exhibit Monday evening at the Governor Clinton Hotel in the sun room. Included will be the 12 by 15 one of Andrew Cook, third, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cook, Jr.; Kim Kearns, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Kearns of Saugerties; Eugene Gaffken, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Gaffken of Hurley; Margaret Ellen O'Reilly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert O'Reilly; Barbara Gay Schrowang, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Schrowang; and Marie Abernethy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Abernethy. Also included will be a large portrait of Paul Stang, son of Mayor and Mrs. Frederick H. Stang, drawn several years ago.

Both Mrs. MacKinnon and Mrs. Cook noted that the smaller portraits are priced within reach of anyone who wants an unusual lasting momento of childhood.

THE JUNIOR LEAGUE is now handling appointments for portraits by Mr. Sloan, through the Exchange on Crown street.

He will do drawings of children over six months of age, and also of adults, at the subject's home.

The public is invited to view the portrait exhibition Monday evening, which will also include several large drawings and also to contact the Junior League Exchanges for further information.

Most frozen meats needn't be thawed before cooking. You need to allow longer cooking time for unthawed meats, of course.

HOW DOES IT LOOK seems to be the question Mrs. Gifford Beal is asking as she chooses hat and jewelry for the fashion show Wednesday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The event, sponsored by the Women's Club of the YWCA, will begin at 8:30 p. m. Ticket chairman is Mrs. Ralph Harper of 224 Fair street. Mrs. Beal will model for Helen Davenport, commentator of the show. Complete ensemble from the Helen Davenport Shop. (Freeman photo).

THOSE WHO MUST DIET

A hostess writes me as follows: "The other afternoon I invited some women friends in to play bridge. As I wanted this to be an especially nice bridge party I went to great pains in preparing refreshments, making all sorts of fancy sandwiches and cakes. Much to my chagrin hardly any of these refreshments were eaten—three of the women would not touch one single thing as they were dieting. I was very much annoyed over this and think that they were very rude. When the hostess goes to the trouble and expense of preparing refreshments the least her guests can do is to forget their diets this once, and eat something. Don't you agree, Mrs. Post, that they were very inconsiderate?"

It is very disappointing to the hostess not to have her guests eat the delicious food she has prepared, but the unfortunate people who have to diet know that going off their diet can cancel days of abstinence. It is a good idea for every hostess to keep this in mind when giving a party and have some nonfattening foods so that those who are dieting can eat something.

Sorority Tea

Dear Mrs. Post: We are giving a tea in our sorority house and there has been some discussion as to who should stand first in the receiving line—the house mother or the president of the sorority. Some of the girls think the house mother should stand first being an older person and others think the president of the sorority should stand first. Will you please settle this for us?

Answer: The house mother being the hostess of the sorority house should stand first.

House Warming for Rented House

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to give a housewarming party when going to housekeeping in a rented apartment? Some one has told me that this party is given only so friends can go through a new house.

Answer: There is no reason why people who are renting shouldn't give a housewarming if they would like to.

Is it good manners to break crackers into soup? How should baked potato be eaten? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Answers to these questions are included in leaflet E-16. Queen Esther Ball March 12 Will Be Feature of Purim Festival at Jewish Center

The second annual Queen Esther Ball, celebrating the Feast of Purim, has been set for Saturday evening, March 12, in the Skyroom of the Jewish Community Center, according to Attorney Abraham Streifer, president of the board of directors, who said, "This traditional celebration commemorates the victory over Haman, prototype of all the persecutors of the Jewish people in every country and age. Its story affirms the indestructibility of the Jewish people and directs attention to the miracle of their eternal survival."

"The Queen Esther Ball," President Streifer stressed, "is jointly sponsored by the Jewish Community Center and the congregations and other organizations of the Kingston Jewish Community. The Purim ball is a family affair, planned so that both adults and teenagers may participate in the event together."

This year's Queen Esther and Prince Mordecai will be selected from among the teenagers present by their own voting. In addition, the junior co-ed group of the Center, representing the youth in junior high school, will choose from among their own group the Lady-in-Waiting to Queen Esther and the Gentlemen - in - Attendance to Prince Mordecai."

Mrs. Murray Greene, chairman of the second annual Queen Esther Ball, pointed out that last year's Queen Esther, Miss Marilyn Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sid Black, would reign during the evening until she crowned the new Queen. Her lady-in-waiting, Miss Carol Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rose, will serve Queen Marilyn. Stuart Buchbinder, last year's Prince Mordecai, has moved to another city with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Buchbinder; in his stead Queen Marilyn will invite her consort. Stanley Parnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Parnett, will complete the royal party as gentleman-in-waiting, until their successors are chosen.

IN ADDITION to the highlight event of voting in this year's royal entourage for the Queen Esther Ball, there will be many gay and exciting booths offering bazaar like entertainment features. These booths will be manned by the members of both center groups and community organization sponsors of the ball. The traditional pastry hat (the hamantasch) will be the main refreshment delectation. And all will be embellished by the music of Harry Maisenhelder and his orchestra, from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m.

Mrs. Greene noted that the community affairs at the center have always been noteworthy not only for the program content, but also because of the appropriate and beautiful decorations. This year's Queen Esther Ball, she said, will maintain the high level of decor achievement, which is being planned and executed by a committee headed by Leon Crystal, with the assistance of various teenage groups. As in past events, S. Lewis Gaber, executive director of the Jewish Community Center is serving as the coordinator of the Queen Esther Ball.

Since last year's event was so successful, Mrs. Greene urges that people planning to attend complete their parties and notify the center so that sufficient accommodations may be provided for all. This invitation is extended to the entire Kingston community.

Allan Sloan Portraits of Local Children Will Be Exhibited Monday Evening at Hotel

Young Andrew Cook, third, sat quietly with his hands folded in his lap surveying his likeness in a wax crayon portrait. Then with a shy smile and a shrug of his shoulders, he looked up at his mother, Mrs. Andrew Cook, Jr., and voiced his full approval.

THE CHARMING portrait, which caught a particular expression of Young Master Cook, was done by Allan Sloan, famous artist who now makes his home in Woodstock. Tall, distinguished Mr. Sloan completed the likeness in less than an hour, working in the Cook home, Presidents Place, Tuesday afternoon. The appointment for the portrait sitting was made through the Kingston Junior League.

While Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Robert MacKinnon chatted in the living room, the artist began his portrait of the young man in the room adjoining.

Andrew sat in a chair opposite the artist, the picture of patience as the deft hand of Mr. Sloan brought color and life to the paper. Both subject and artist moved into the living room when the sun caused Andrew to squint. Pausing only long enough for coffee served by Mrs. Cook, Mr. Sloan's practiced hand filled in the last touch of color before there was any sign of restlessness from his subject.

"I HAD to discipline myself to one-hour sittings," Mr. Sloan remarked when asked if he had developed a special technique of drawing, "because when the subject is a child, he becomes restless very quickly."

ANDREW COOK, third was certainly a "model" model. But from his experience, Mr. Sloan observes that girls are better than boys at posing, "they're a little more vain."

Beginning his studies in his native city of Cleveland, O., at the Cleveland School of Art, he continued at the National Academy of Design in New York, and attended summer classes in Provincetown under Charles Hawthorne and with John Carlson in Woodstock, where he now makes his home.

On his return to Cleveland in 1926, following two years spent painting in Paris and on the Riviera, he began his life as a portrait painter. He has exhibited in Washington, Beverly Hills, where many children of the movie colony were painted and drawn, and in St. Petersburg. In New York, there have been exhibitions at the Morton Galleries and the Junior League. Mr. Sloan spent the war years as production illustrator at a General Motors aircraft plant in Cleveland, and since the war, his work has been available through Portraits, Inc. Frequent exhibits have taken place in his adopted home town, Woodstock.

HIS UNUSUAL portraits of children were done at Saks Fifth avenue store in 1937 to 1940, and again last year.

Portraits by Mr. Sloan of six local children will be on exhibit Monday evening at the Governor Clinton Hotel in the sun room. Included will be the 12 by 15 one of Andrew Cook, third, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cook, Jr.; Kim Kearns, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Kearns of Saugerties; Eugene Gaffken, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Gaffken of Hurley; Margaret Ellen O'Reilly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert O'Reilly; Barbara Gay Schrowang, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Schrowang; and Marie Abernethy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Abernethy. Also included will be a large portrait of Paul Stang, son of Mayor and Mrs. Frederick H. Stang, drawn several years ago.

Both Mrs. MacKinnon and Mrs. Cook noted that the smaller portraits are priced within reach of anyone who wants an unusual lasting momento of childhood.

THE JUNIOR LEAGUE is now handling appointments for portraits by Mr. Sloan, through the Exchange on Crown street.

He will do drawings of children over six months of age, and also of adults, at the subject's home.

The public is invited to view the portrait exhibition Monday evening, which will also include several large drawings and also to contact the Junior League Exchanges for further information.

Most frozen meats needn't be thawed before cooking. You need to allow longer cooking time for unthawed meats, of course.

HOW DOES IT LOOK seems to be the question Mrs. Gifford Beal is asking as she chooses hat and jewelry for the fashion show Wednesday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The event, sponsored by the Women's Club of the YWCA, will begin at 8:30 p. m. Ticket chairman is Mrs. Ralph Harper of 224 Fair street. Mrs. Beal will model for Helen Davenport, commentator of the show. Complete ensemble from the Helen Davenport Shop. (Freeman photo).

THOSE WHO MUST DIET

A hostess writes me as follows: "The other afternoon I invited some women friends in to play bridge. As I wanted this to be an especially nice bridge party I went to great pains in preparing refreshments, making all sorts of fancy sandwiches and cakes. Much to my chagrin hardly any of these refreshments were eaten—three of the women would not touch one single thing as they were dieting. I was very much annoyed over this and think that they were very rude. When the hostess goes to the trouble and expense of preparing refreshments the least her guests can do is to forget their diets this once, and eat something. Don't you agree, Mrs. Post, that they were very inconsiderate?"

It is very disappointing to the hostess not to have her guests eat the delicious food she has prepared, but the unfortunate people who have to diet know that going off their diet can cancel days of abstinence. It is a good idea for every hostess to keep this in mind when giving a party and have some nonfattening foods so that those who are dieting can eat something.

Sorority Tea

Dear Mrs. Post: We are giving a tea in our sorority house and there has been some discussion as to who should stand first in the receiving line—the house mother or the president of the sorority. Some of the girls think the house mother should stand first being an older person and others think the president of the sorority should stand first. Will you please settle this for us?

Answer: The house mother being the hostess of the sorority house should stand first.

House Warming for Rented House

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to give a housewarming party when going to housekeeping in a rented apartment? Some one has told me that this party is given only so friends can go through a new house.

Answer: There is no reason why people who are renting shouldn't give a housewarming if they would like to.

Jaycees Name Head In Drive for Funds To Aid MS Research

WAYNE ARCHIBALD

Wayne Archibald has been named chairman of the Multiple Sclerosis campaign which the Junior Chamber of Commerce will conduct in this city between March 15 and April 30. Earlier in the year the Jaycees resolved to sponsor a campaign to aid in combating multiple sclerosis.

According to Mr. Archibald the kickoff of the campaign will be the sponsorship of a Curtain at 8:40 featuring The Last Holiday with Alec Guinness. The MS patients will be the guests of the management of the Walter Reade theatre. The chairman hopes that the public will give this attraction their full support.

Mr. Archibald, himself a charter member of the Kingston Jaycees says, "Although the Junior Chamber of Commerce has taken upon itself sponsorship of a drive to educate the public regarding this incurable disease and to raise funds for research which is the only hope for those now afflicted, the Jaycees are sure many outside their organization will be only too willing to help them in this endeavor."

This will be the first time an organized drive for multiple sclerosis will take place in Kingston. Last year was the first time any campaign was conducted at all and that campaign was conducted by the MS patients themselves.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has interested itself in multiple sclerosis for several reasons among them being that MS is a young adult disease with 70 per cent of the cases having their onset between the ages of 20 and 40 years. The years of Jaycee activity are from 21 to 36 years.

The prevalence of this disease is not generally realized, but since one out of 400 young adults have MS with approximately 50 cases here in Ulster county, it strikes close to home.

don't dictate, and what's more, they wouldn't listen, if I did."

Among those opposing the project were Fifth Ward Supervisor James P. Fiore, 49 Gill street; Raymond H. Van Valkenburgh, of 329 East Union street, principal of School No. 4, Mrs. Van Valkenburgh, Clifford Sinsabaugh, 64 Ponckhockie street, former Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly, who represented some of the opposition, several aldermen, and other residents of the ward, who talked without registering their names, with Harry C. Seitz, who stenotyped the session.

Mayor Stang, in opening the session, outlined the landfill proposal. He stressed the need of some solution of the city's refuse problem soon because the Wilbur avenue dump area is filling up, and the incinerator is used to its capacity.

A STUDY WAS MADE of various methods of refuse disposal, he said, and the sanitary landfill system was favored because it also could be used to reclaim wasteland.

The mayor emphasized that he was acting, for what he intends as "the best interests of the people of the city." It was found impossible to go out of the city with a local refuse-disposal problem, he said, because of the new growth in districts around it.

Neither he, nor the public works board, he said, found it a pleasant task "to advance a project like this," but, he noted, if the people feel they are being punished, he wanted to assure them that this is not true.

ONE PURPOSE in mind, he said, was to try to rehabilitate the lower end of the city, and the Kingston Point beach, he noted, was one step in that direction. He also indicated plans for an attempt by the city to acquire Kingston Point park.

The landfill method as used on the Wilbur avenue dump and a section at the rear of Block Park, were cited as examples of the type of landfill operations proposed, and he said he could assure residents of the fifth ward because of what he had seen elsewhere that the project would not be a detriment to the area.

THE PROJECT takes time, he said. It would move along at about two and a half acres of fill a year, starting along Delaware avenue and extending southward. A baseball field could be an early development, he said. A seven-foot fence and shrubbery would be used to offset unsightliness, and every effort would be made "to do a good job for the city," he promised. Such swamp conditions, rats, and odor as are there now, he said, would be eliminated.

Democratic Supervisor Fiore, Fifth Ward, the first speaker against the proposal, said the project "is not going to help the people of the fifth ward. I think the mayor has done a great job in selling the uptown people, but he has failed to sell the people down there."

Fiore wanted to know why the mayor did not call a meeting of the people of the ward before considering the project. He understood, he said, that the city planned to pipe the waste material and would install a gate valve.

"Where is the waste material going to, when the gate is closed and the tide backs up?" he asked. Noting that the area now has an open sewer condition, he said, "What we need in the fifth ward is a sanitary sewer." He recalled complaints of an odor at the Cordts street sewer, of conditions in the Gill street sewer before recent remedial action there.

NOTHING WAS DONE on Gill street, he charged, until after a lawsuit was started, and he said he understood there would be another suit within a week.

"Had the city acted in time," he held, "this would not have happened." Referring to a report that the Kiwanis Club favored a refill project, he asked if the club knew about the sewer that runs through a swamp in the ward. In his opinion, he said, the mayor is only interested in dumping his refuse, and is not concerned with fifth ward problems.

"We've spent thousands for a sewage disposal plant," he charged, "and Ponckhockie is not hooked in. . . . We have our sewer running to the creek as always. It seems to be as though the fifth ward doesn't belong to the rest of the city, and nobody has ever done anything to make the fifth ward part of the rest of the city."

Fiore contended that it would take too long under the landfill system to bring benefits the ward now needs. He read resolutions of protest adopted by Cordts Hose Company and School No. 4 Parents Association.

ATTORNEY CONNELLY, who represented John N. Cordts and the Cordts Realty Corp., and others, said it appeared "to be the intent and purpose of the Board of Public Works" to develop the area with public money for later private, commercial use. Such money, he held, under the charter, could be used only for public purposes. He found nothing in the powers and duties of the BPW, he said, giving them such privilege "or to establish or use a dumping area."

Connelly held also that the city now operates on a 30-day lease of the land involved, and until such time as it is acquired by sale, the city would not be permitted by law to expend more than "the fair rental value of the property." As a swamp land, he said, it has little, if any rental value.

IT SEEMS, he said, that if it is proposed to build a park or playground there, the people should have been first consulted as to whether they want a park there. The area now has a beach and Hasbrouck Park is only a short walk from the neighborhood.

The Wilbur avenue dump, he said, cited as an example of the type of refill project proposed, has been known to cause smoke and odor, and the BPW has hired exterminators for rats and other infestation.

If the project were started, he held, rodents in the lagoon area would be driven elsewhere, and he asked, "Where would they go . . . into the homes of the people in the neighborhood." The city, he said, has "No Pied Piper of Hamlin," to drive them into the river.

Recalling flood conditions, he said, there were times when Delaware avenue was impassable from North street. He noted the open sewer condition and the flooding of cellars, and he held the city could not interefer with tides of the Hudson without proper federal authority.

EVEN THOUGH the city put up a seven-foot fence, he said, residents on the hill above, could still look down on "trash left there before it is covered." A new traffic hazard would be created at School No. 4 and The Academy of St. Ursula, and in that sense the project would "interefere with the education of our children." Fires to some extent, he held would be another hazard.

The cost, he said, appears not to have been sufficiently discussed, but he said, it was his understanding that it would cost $100,000. He also contended that benefits would be on a long-term basis of 40 to 50 years, and maybe by that time such departments as police and fire, might need more funds, less would be spent in the project area, and it might become "a plain dump." It has been his experience in municipal government, he said, that the city does not always select ideal sites.

CONNELLY CONTENDED that too much concentration has been devoted to the Kingston Point area as the "ideal site." He felt the proposal should be given "a great deal more consideration," and that thought should be given to an incinerator in a less populated area, or another site for landfill, "even if less ideal." He submitted a petition with 400 names of persons "who are inalterably opposed to this project."

Principal VanValkenburgh said he was 100 per cent opposed to the project because "it was not for the best interests of anyone" in the area, and he asked: "Do you realize that this would be the disposal of waste of 30,000 people across the road from a fine private school, and fine homes literally across the road less than 100 feet, and a short distance from School No. 4?"

Added travel of trucks, he held, would be a danger to school children, and he asked, "Would you want this situation across from your home . . . ask your families, friends and neighbors . . . how could they vote to wish this on us."

THE PRINCIPAL SAID he had learned on "the highest authority" that the Kiwanis Club did not pass a resolution on the specific project, but did favor the refill system in general. He asked the mayor what would be done to prevent sand from blowing, and the mayor said there were methods including use of a special solution or material. Other methods were explained later. VanValkenburgh said he was authorized to say for Dr. Arthur M. Cragin, dentist, of 1 Ponckhockie street, that he was opposed to the project.

Clifford Sinsabaugh, of 64 Ponckhockie street said, "his honor, the mayor, has picked the most opportune moment to bring these gentlemen from New York . . . have they been faced with this situation?"

Recalling high water conditions he asked, "What do they intend to do, raise the road 10 feet?" Arguing against the point that there would be "no odors," he said the disposal plant was supposed to have no odors either, but he could say it has "in the heat of summer" to the point of being "unbearable."

TIDE AND DRIVING rains cause floods in the area, he said. He held that streets in the ward now are "practically impassable," and he wanted to know what would be done about the trucks to and from the refill area.

After asking "What has been done in the fifth ward for the past two years leading up to this," he made mention of the beach, and said, "They claim they gave us a skating rink . . . it's one that's been there ever since I've been able to remember.

Sinsabaugh said he has a friend living near the Wilbur avenue dump and the odor there is "terrific." He concluded, "Take your dump away from me, and put it in your own back yard."

Edinger, of the health department, in answering several questions, revealed that "studies are being made for possible septic treatment" of sewage in the area to relieve present conditions.

MAYOR STANG, at one point said, "I promise to do the best that I can to correct conditions there." Supervisor Fiore charged that the mayor gave the area a beach and is "now trying to put a dump along side of it." Somewhere in this discussion, the mayor asked Fiore, if he would be in favor of the purchase of Kingston Point Park, and he said he would.

Ninth Ward Alderman William K. Bodenweber wanted to know what was to be done first about present conditions. Edinger said he did not see where the project would affect the present line of drainage in the area, and the mayor said Superintendent Steuding is trying to eliminate open sewage, but this would be a project independent of the other.

Jesse Passante, of 43 Ponckhockie street, who favors the project, recalled that as a city employe, pipe was laid to take care of draining in other such projects, some of them under the WPA. Pipe was put in as dumping progressed in the Summer street area and on Wilbur avenue, he said.

Tenth Ward Alderman James K. Ryan wanted to know if the sewage problem could be solved by a gravity feed system and consulting engineer McCaffrey, said this would not be possible. Solution of the problem, he said, was considered under the WPA, the mayor noted that the proposed WPA solution was found to be expensive.

After brief discussion on this, the mayor noted, that it may be possible to solve the problem for the 140 homes in the area by a small auxiliary unit, and this is under study.

Ryan asked for an estimate on the cost of raising a section of road in the area. Steuding left the meeting to get the estimate from his office and reported it at $2,200.

Alderman Charles J. Cole, 13th ward, wanted to know if it would be a costly proposition to erect a tide gate, and Constable, one of the New York experts said, the refill project, would not be directly tied in with such a project.

THE QUESTION of the feasibility of the area for an airport arose, and Constable noted that LaGuardia Field, New York, was built on 80 feet of mud." The Kingston area, he said, was "in far better condition."

Alderman Perry contended that the New York experts were here only to consider the landfill proposal, and knew nothing about the "health menace" in the area. Perry contended there would be a smoke menace. He said the trench method in Newburgh is "what you call landfill," and he charged the method proposed here would not only be a menace to the neighbodhood, but would be too costly. Newburgh, he said, spends only $13,000 a year.

Perry charged that in two months this year the city used 8,472 yards of gravel at 25 cents a yard bringing the total cost to $2,118 on the Wilbur avenue dump, and that during all of 1954 13,568 yards of gravel were used at a cost of $3,392.

Perry said he was in favor of landfill, but the mayor and Steuding are not, "when they pick out a spot like the Kingston Point lagoon."

Constable, when asked to give an opinion as to the site, said, "If we had an area as good, we would think it the best we ever heard of." In the city, he said "we operate as close as a couple hundred yards and have no complaints."

FELDMAN, the other New York expert said, that in his experience of handling waste material there were "practically zero compalints," from a population of 8,500,000.

The fire menace, he said, was slight, occuring about once a month or once in six months, and was a nuisance only to the operating force and not for the area." The project would be independent of other projects there, and could be operated with or without a tide gate.

Wave action from tide winds in the New York area in hurricanes, he said, are far greater than anything ever experienced in Kingston. There tides raise, six, eight and ten feet above average crest. He felt there should be no fear from this source, since there is none in New York.

SODDING, SEEDING, wetting, oiling, and the building of fences, similar to snow fences, he said are used to stop blowing sand. Roads in landfill areas in New York are built of waste material.

"Based on my experience," he said, "this site lends itself very well." The cost he said would be about one third that for operation of an incinerator.

Constable said that if the people in the ward or those concerned generally, would care to send a committee to New York, their transportation would be provided for and they would be taken to any or all projects operated there.

MRS. VAN VALKENBURGH felt that the removal of trees in the area would be costly. She noted there were "many lovely homes" on the edge of the proposed project area. The trucks would be a nuisance and new danger, she held. Besides the older homes, she said, many have built new homes in the area.

Asked if it was planned to use river silt for fill in the area, the mayor said, one area had been set aside for that.

Mrs. Hogan wanted to know if the people of the fifth ward were going to get the project regardless of how they felt about it. The mayor said it was up to the Common Council to decide.

Asked about the initial cost, the mayor said, the land would cost $25,000, and $26,000 would be required for equipment and getting the project in operation.

Third Ward Alderman Edwin Radel said the project had been presented "in generalities" and he felt the aldermen could not vote on it Tuesday "unless they get a point-by-point plan."

Referring to Mrs. Hogan's statement, Radel, said he could give assurance that the minority members of the council "will vote as if they had been representing the fifth ward here tonight."

CITY ENGINEER Hallinan was called upon to explain a map set up for the hearing, showing the project area and percentages of it affected by the tides.

Supervisor Fiore said he noticed Democratic Aldermen in the audience, but had not noticed many Republicans. Alderman Ryan later reported that all of the alderman attended.

Mayor Stang declared as the hearing drew to a close that he sought only to act for the city as a whole. "There is only one Kingston, he said, and it goes from Ponckhockie up to Higginsville."

Resignation Accepted

Albany, March 4 (AP)—Gov. Harriman today accepted the resignation of John F. O'Connell, a Republican, as chairman and as a member of the State Liquor Authority. The other Republican member of the board, Arthur F. Robertson of New York, also has resigned. O'Connell said in a letter to the governor, dated yesterday, that he was resigning because he felt that the governor "is entitled to official family of his own choice." O'Connell said that for a minority member of the board to be chairman was "inconsistent with basic principles of official responsibility."

Harriman Is Accused

Albany, March 4 (AP)—The Republican state chairman today accused Gov. Harriman of calling for "unneeded" tax increases and trying to "blackjack the people" into accepting them. L. Judson Morhouse said in a statement that the Democratic governor "demanded tax increases 163 per cent greater than necessary to balance his record-high budget." GOP legislative leaders, Morhouse said, will balance the state budget by slashing $79,100,000 from Harriman's original tax program without reducing state school aid or highway construction.

Queen Goes Broke

Baden Baden, Germany, March 4 (AP)—Shah Reza Pahlevi of Iran won a little at roulette but Queen Soraya went "broke" as the touring royal couple had a gay night out. They remained late at the gaming tables in this Black Forest resort and at one point Soraya turned to the Shah and said in German, "Now, I am broke." They danced only one dance before departing at 2 a. m. for their hotel.

Pay Bill Delayed

Washington, March 4 (AP) — After three young service wives testified they needed more money to make ends meet, a House Armed Services subcommittee today unanimously approved a 735-million-dollar pay raise for the armed forces. Chairman Kilday (D-Tex.) the measure will go to the full committee Tuesday. He said he looks for a House vote about Thursday.

Jaycees Name Head In Drive for Funds To Aid MS Research

WAYNE ARCHIBALD

Wayne Archibald has been named chairman of the Multiple Sclerosis campaign which the Junior Chamber of Commerce will conduct in this city between March 15 and April 30. Earlier in the year the Jaycees resolved to sponsor a campaign to aid in combating multiple sclerosis.

According to Mr. Archibald the kickoff of the campaign will be the sponsorship of a Curtain at 8:40 featuring The Last Holiday with Alec Guinness. The MS patients will be the guests of the management of the Walter Reade theatre. The chairman hopes that the public will give this attraction their full support.

Mr. Archibald, himself a charter member of the Kingston Jaycees says, "Although the Junior Chamber of Commerce has taken upon itself sponsorship of a drive to educate the public regarding this incurable disease and to raise funds for research which is the only hope for those now afflicted, the Jaycees are sure many outside their organization will be only too willing to help them in this endeavor."

This will be the first time an organized drive for multiple sclerosis will take place in Kingston. Last year was the first time any campaign was conducted at all and that campaign was conducted by the MS patients themselves.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has interested itself in multiple sclerosis for several reasons among them being that MS is a young adult disease with 70 per cent of the cases having their onset between the ages of 20 and 40 years. The years of Jaycee activity are from 21 to 36 years.

The prevalence of this disease is not generally realized, but since one out of 400 young adults have MS with approximately 50 cases here in Ulster county, it strikes close to home.

Somewhere in this discussion, the mayor asked Fiore, if he would be in favor of the purchase of Kingston Point Park, and he said he would.

Ninth Ward Alderman William K. Bodenweber wanted to know what was to be done first about present conditions. Edinger said he did not see where the project would affect the present line of drainage in the area, and the mayor said Superintendent Steuding is trying to eliminate open sewage, but this would be a project independent of the other.

Jesse Passante, of 43 Ponckhockie street, who favors the project, recalled that as a city employe, pipe was laid to take care of draining in other such projects, some of them under the WPA. Pipe was put in as dumping progressed in the Summer street area and on Wilbur avenue, he said.

Tenth Ward Alderman James K. Ryan wanted to know if the sewage problem could be solved by a gravity feed system and consulting engineer McCaffrey, said this would not be possible. Solution of the problem, he said, was considered under the WPA, the mayor noted that the proposed WPA solution was found to be expensive.

After brief discussion on this, the mayor noted, that it may be possible to solve the problem for the 140 homes in the area by a small auxiliary unit, and this is under study.

Ryan asked for an estimate on the cost of raising a section of road in the area. Steuding left the meeting to get the estimate from his office and reported it at $2,200.

Alderman Charles J. Cole, 13th ward, wanted to know if it would be a costly proposition to erect a tide gate, and Constable, one of the New York experts said, the refill project, would not be directly tied in with such a project.

THE QUESTION of the feasibility of the area for an airport arose, and Constable noted that LaGuardia Field, New York, was built on 80 feet of mud." The Kingston area, he said, was "in far better condition."

Alderman Perry contended that the New York experts were here only to consider the landfill proposal, and knew nothing about the "health menace" in the area. Perry contended there would be a smoke menace. He said the trench method in Newburgh is "what you call landfill," and he charged the method proposed here would not only be a menace to the neighbodhood, but would be too costly. Newburgh, he said, spends only $13,000 a year.

Perry charged that in two months this year the city used 8,472 yards of gravel at 25 cents a yard bringing the total cost to $2,118 on the Wilbur avenue dump, and that during all of 1954 13,568 yards of gravel were used at a cost of $3,392.

Perry said he was in favor of landfill, but the mayor and Steuding are not, "when they pick out a spot like the Kingston Point lagoon."

Constable, when asked to give an opinion as to the site, said, "If we had an area as good, we would think it the best we ever heard of." In the city, he said "we operate as close as a couple hundred yards and have no complaints."

FELDMAN, the other New York expert said, that in his experience of handling waste material there were "practically zero compalints," from a population of 8,500,000.

The fire menace, he said, was slight, occuring about once a month or once in six months, and was a nuisance only to the operating force and not for the area." The project would be independent of other projects there, and could be operated with or without a tide gate.

Wave action from tide winds in the New York area in hurricanes, he said, are far greater than anything ever experienced in Kingston. There tides raise, six, eight and ten feet above average crest. He felt there should be no fear from this source, since there is none in New York.

SODDING, SEEDING, wetting, oiling, and the building of fences, similar to snow fences, he said are used to stop blowing sand. Roads in landfill areas in New York are built of waste material.

"Based on my experience," he said, "this site lends itself very well." The cost he said would be about one third that for operation of an incinerator.

Constable said that if the people in the ward or those concerned generally, would care to send a committee to New York, their transportation would be provided for and they would be taken to any or all projects operated there.

MRS. VAN VALKENBURGH felt that the removal of trees in the area would be costly. She noted there were "many lovely homes" on the edge of the proposed project area. The trucks would be a nuisance and new danger, she held. Besides the older homes, she said, many have built new homes in the area.

Asked if it was planned to use river silt for fill in the area, the mayor said, one area had been set aside for that.

Mrs. Hogan wanted to know if the people of the fifth ward were going to get the project regardless of how they felt about it. The mayor said it was up to the Common Council to decide.

Asked about the initial cost, the mayor said, the land would cost $25,000, and $26,000 would be required for equipment and getting the project in operation.

Third Ward Alderman Edwin Radel said the project had been presented "in generalities" and he felt the aldermen could not vote on it Tuesday "unless they get a point-by-point plan."

Referring to Mrs. Hogan's statement, Radel, said he could give assurance that the minority members of the council "will vote as if they had been representing the fifth ward here tonight."

CITY ENGINEER Hallinan was called upon to explain a map set up for the hearing, showing the project area and percentages of it affected by the tides.

Supervisor Fiore said he noticed Democratic Aldermen in the audience, but had not noticed many Republicans. Alderman Ryan later reported that all of the alderman attended.

Mayor Stang declared as the hearing drew to a close that he sought only to act for the city as a whole. "There is only one Kingston, he said, and it goes from Ponckhockie up to Higginsville."

CROWD ATTENDING HEARING—This crowd registered by The Freeman camera turned out at last night's public hearing to listen to arguments for and against the land reclamation project in Kingston Point lagoon.

Resignation Accepted

Albany, March 4 (AP)—Gov. Harriman today accepted the resignation of John F. O'Connell, a Republican, as chairman and as a member of the State Liquor Authority. The other Republican member of the board, Arthur F. Robertson of New York, also has resigned. O'Connell said in a letter to the governor, dated yesterday, that he was resigning because he felt that the governor "is entitled to official family of his own choice." O'Connell said that for a minority member of the board to be chairman was "inconsistent with basic principles of official responsibility."

Harriman Is Accused

Albany, March 4 (AP)—The Republican state chairman today accused Gov. Harriman of calling for "unneeded" tax increases and trying to "blackjack the people" into accepting them. L. Judson Morhouse said in a statement that the Democratic governor "demanded tax increases 163 per cent greater than necessary to balance his record-high budget." GOP legislative leaders, Morhouse said, will balance the state budget by slashing $79,100,000 from Harriman's original tax program without reducing state school aid or highway construction.

Queen Goes Broke

Baden Baden, Germany, March 4 (AP)—Shah Reza Pahlevi of Iran won a little at roulette but Queen Soraya went "broke" as the touring royal couple had a gay night out. They remained late at the gaming tables in this Black Forest resort and at one point Soraya turned to the Shah and said in German, "Now, I am broke." They danced only one dance before departing at 2 a. m. for their hotel.

Pay Bill Delayed

Washington, March 4 (AP) — After three young service wives testified they needed more money to make ends meet, a House Armed Services subcommittee today unanimously approved a 735-million-dollar pay raise for the armed forces. Chairman Kilday (D-Tex.) the measure will go to the full committee Tuesday. He said he looks for a House vote about Thursday.

ACC Fives Follow Dope Chart

(By The Associated Press)

A couple of rebels have popped up down in Dixie where the Atlantic Coast and Southern Conferences are picking their entries in the NCAA basketball tournament by the simple process of elimination.

Three of the ACC'c top-seeded teams rolled through their first round games in the title tourney yesterday, but Virginia dumped third-ranked Maryland 68-67 in overtime.

There wasn't a genuine upset in the southern get-together, but Washington and Lee's ambitious sophomores proved they were in the scrap to stay by humbling Furman and All-America Darrell Floyd 97-67.

In other ACC games, which went as expected:

FAVORED NORTH Carolina State, 5th ranked in the Associated Press poll, set a tourney record with a 101-76 victory over Clemson.

If NCAA - ineligible NCS (on probation on a "tryout" charge) wins the tourney, incidentally, the runnerup will head for the NCAA play.

Second-seeded Duke had no trouble beating South Carolina 83-67 and Lefty Davis and Dick Hemric carried Wake Forest past North Carolina 95-82. Davis, 6-2 and 152 pounds, slipped through the Tar Heels for 32 points, one less than totaled by second-team All-America Hemric.

Tonight's semifinals pair Wake Forest-North Carolina State and Duke-Virginia.

In the Southern, Floyd hit on just six of 33 field attempts.

THE OTHER GAMES: Rod Hundley scored 27 as West Virginia defeated VMI 73-66, George Washington defeated Davidson 74-36 after shaking off a first half freeze and Warren Mills hit at crucial moments for 22 points in Richmond's 90-75 success over William and Mary.

In the semifinals tonight, West Virginia meets Washington and Lee and Richmond plays George Washington.

Elsewhere last night, Wichita greeted Oklahoma City University, named earlier as an NCAA at-large entry, with a 69-56 defeat, and Dayton bopped Seton Hall 85-67 in a game between two NIT entries.

Two other NIT entries also won: Manhattan had to fight off a Fordham rally but beat the Rams 60-55 and Duquesne, 8th in the nation and top-seeded in the NIT, ended its regular season with a 19-4 record by beating St. Bonaventure 68-50.

Unknown Leads At Baton Rouge

Baton Rouge, La., March 4 (AP)—Walter Romans, who plays a few tournaments each year on his vacation, today led the big name pros into the second round of the fourth annual $12,500 Baton Rouge Open Golf tournament.

The 37-year-old Baltimore pro shot a seven-under-par 65 yesterday as the money players gave the par 72, 6,450-yard Baton Rouge Country Club course a fearful working over.

SOME 70 GOLFERS hit par-72 or better.

Romans shot par 36 for the first nine holes but sizzled over the back nine with seven birdies and two pars for 29.

One stroke behind at 66 were Bud Holscher of Apple Valley, Calif.; Paul McGuire of Wichita, Kas.; and Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill.

Five more had 67: Wally Ulrich of Rochester, Minn.; Jerry Barber of Los Angeles; Jack Fleck of Davenport, Iowa; Bill Nary of Reno, Nev.; and Jack Burke Jr. of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y.

Vejar-Graham Bout at Garden

New York, March 4 (AP)—Two of ring's real gentlemen—aging Billy Graham and eager, 23-year-old Chico Vejar—battle it out tonight in a bout regarded as a tossup at Madison Square Garden.

This 10-rounder is a big one for both. It could be the last for the 32-year-old Graham, a veteran of 14 years and 124 pro bouts who wants to pile up some extra cash to go into business.

But Billy, in losing his last two to Chris Christensen, a nothing fighter, and Ramon Fuentes, showed how far he had slipped from the No. 1 contender who had come within a shade of taking the welterweight crown from Kid Gavilan.

The bout will be broadcast as well as telecast by NBC.

Vejar, since getting his army discharge, has piled up a seven-fight unbeaten string.

Basketeers Rap Redlegs, 32-27

Mary Meyers scored 17 points as the Basketeers defeated the Redlegs, 32-27, in the Recreation girls basketball league.

L. Marz paced the losers with 16.

Redlegs (27)—L. Marz f 16, Van Deusen f 5, J. Rich f 1, K. Ilves f 3, D. Ambrose f 2; J. Anderson, S. Parnett, L. Rider, guards.

Title Near For Pistons Or the Nats

(By The Associated Press)

Either Fort Wayne or Syracuse can sew up the championships of their respective divisions in the National Basketball Assn. tonight.

Fort Wayne needs only one victory to win the western division title and a defeat of the Minneapolis Lakers by the Boston Celtics would give them the necessary triumph.

In the eastern division the Syracuse Nationals need two to clinch. They could accomplish the feat tonight if they beat the Hawks at Milwaukee and the Lakers defeat the Celtics at Boston.

THE NATS PREVENTED the Pistons from clinching last night by beating the western leaders 83-81 after the Rochester Royals had turned back the Lakers 83-76 in a doubleheader at Fort Wayne.

The New York Knicks moved into a tie for second place with Boston in the eastern section with a 103-89 triumph over Milwaukee at Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

In downing the Pistons for the second straight night, the Nationals didn't take the lead until early in the fourth period. Once they were in front 66-65 they never were headed.

Rochester went out in front of Minneapolis in the second period and stayed there with Bob Davis and Jack McMahon shooting over the taller Lakers. Davies paced the Royals with 17 points.

Sweetwater Clifton tossed in 22 points and Harry Gallatin 20 in leading the Knicks to victory.

ACC Fives Follow Dope Chart

(By The Associated Press)

A couple of rebels have popped up down in Dixie where the Atlantic Coast and Southern Conferences are picking their entries in the NCAA basketball tournament by the simple process of elimination.

Three of the ACC'c top-seeded teams rolled through their first round games in the title tourney yesterday, but Virginia dumped third-ranked Maryland 68-67 in overtime.

There wasn't a genuine upset in the southern get-together, but Washington and Lee's ambitious sophomores proved they were in the scrap to stay by humbling Furman and All-America Darrell Floyd 97-67.

In other ACC games, which went as expected:

FAVORED NORTH Carolina State, 5th ranked in the Associated Press poll, set a tourney record with a 101-76 victory over Clemson.

If NCAA - ineligible NCS (on probation on a "tryout" charge) wins the tourney, incidentally, the runnerup will head for the NCAA play.

Second-seeded Duke had no trouble beating South Carolina 83-67 and Lefty Davis and Dick Hemric carried Wake Forest past North Carolina 95-82. Davis, 6-2 and 152 pounds, slipped through the Tar Heels for 32 points, one less than totaled by second-team All-America Hemric.

Tonight's semifinals pair Wake Forest-North Carolina State and Duke-Virginia.

In the Southern, Floyd hit on just six of 33 field attempts.

THE OTHER GAMES: Rod Hundley scored 27 as West Virginia defeated VMI 73-66, George Washington defeated Davidson 74-36 after shaking off a first half freeze and Warren Mills hit at crucial moments for 22 points in Richmond's 90-75 success over William and Mary.

In the semifinals tonight, West Virginia meets Washington and Lee and Richmond plays George Washington.

Elsewhere last night, Wichita greeted Oklahoma City University, named earlier as an NCAA at-large entry, with a 69-56 defeat, and Dayton bopped Seton Hall 85-67 in a game between two NIT entries.

Two other NIT entries also won: Manhattan had to fight off a Fordham rally but beat the Rams 60-55 and Duquesne, 8th in the nation and top-seeded in the NIT, ended its regular season with a 19-4 record by beating St. Bonaventure 68-50.

Unknown Leads At Baton Rouge

Baton Rouge, La., March 4 (AP)—Walter Romans, who plays a few tournaments each year on his vacation, today led the big name pros into the second round of the fourth annual $12,500 Baton Rouge Open Golf tournament.

The 37-year-old Baltimore pro shot a seven-under-par 65 yesterday as the money players gave the par 72, 6,450-yard Baton Rouge Country Club course a fearful working over.

SOME 70 GOLFERS hit par-72 or better.

Romans shot par 36 for the first nine holes but sizzled over the back nine with seven birdies and two pars for 29.

One stroke behind at 66 were Bud Holscher of Apple Valley, Calif.; Paul McGuire of Wichita, Kas.; and Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill.

Five more had 67: Wally Ulrich of Rochester, Minn.; Jerry Barber of Los Angeles; Jack Fleck of Davenport, Iowa; Bill Nary of Reno, Nev.; and Jack Burke Jr. of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y.

Vejar-Graham Bout at Garden

New York, March 4 (AP)—Two of ring's real gentlemen—aging Billy Graham and eager, 23-year-old Chico Vejar—battle it out tonight in a bout regarded as a tossup at Madison Square Garden.

This 10-rounder is a big one for both. It could be the last for the 32-year-old Graham, a veteran of 14 years and 124 pro bouts who wants to pile up some extra cash to go into business.

But Billy, in losing his last two to Chris Christensen, a nothing fighter, and Ramon Fuentes, showed how far he had slipped from the No. 1 contender who had come within a shade of taking the welterweight crown from Kid Gavilan.

The bout will be broadcast as well as telecast by NBC.

Vejar, since getting his army discharge, has piled up a seven-fight unbeaten string.

Basketeers Rap Redlegs, 32-27

Mary Meyers scored 17 points as the Basketeers defeated the Redlegs, 32-27, in the Recreation girls basketball league.

L. Marz paced the losers with 16.

Title Near For Pistons Or the Nats

(By The Associated Press)

Either Fort Wayne or Syracuse can sew up the championships of their respective divisions in the National Basketball Assn. tonight.

Fort Wayne needs only one victory to win the western division title and a defeat of the Minneapolis Lakers by the Boston Celtics would give them the necessary triumph.

In the eastern division the Syracuse Nationals need two to clinch. They could accomplish the feat tonight if they beat the Hawks at Milwaukee and the Lakers defeat the Celtics at Boston.

THE NATS PREVENTED the Pistons from clinching last night by beating the western leaders 83-81 after the Rochester Royals had turned back the Lakers 83-76 in a doubleheader at Fort Wayne.

The New York Knicks moved into a tie for second place with Boston in the eastern section with a 103-89 triumph over Milwaukee at Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

In downing the Pistons for the second straight night, the Nationals didn't take the lead until early in the fourth period. Once they were in front 66-65 they never were headed.

Rochester went out in front of Minneapolis in the second period and stayed there with Bob Davis and Jack McMahon shooting over the taller Lakers. Davies paced the Royals with 17 points.

Sweetwater Clifton tossed in 22 points and Harry Gallatin 20 in leading the Knicks to victory.

Three Clubs Hope for New 'Sleeper' in Rookie Crop

(By The Associated Press)

There isn't a major league manager who doesn't hope that a sleeper, such as Mickey Mantle, Bob Grim, Wally Moon or Willie Mays turns up among the rookies striving to make baseball's big time.

That's the reason Manager Birdie Tebbetts of Cincinnati is taking a long and good look at Bob Thurman, Chuck Dressen of Washington thinks highly of Bob Kline and Walt Alston wouldn't be surprised if Bert Hamric made the Brooklyn varsity.

YOU'LL RECALL that Mantle jumped all the way from Class C into the Yankees' centerfield, Grim had played only one year of organized ball before compiling a 20-6 record for the Yankees and winning rookie of the year honors in 1954, Moon wasn't even on the Cardinals' roster until the opening day last year and Mays was so lightly regarded he wasn't in the Giants camp in 1951—the year he made his debut.

Tebbetts, already blessed with plenty of long ball hitters, figures the Redlegs have another in Thurman, 32-year-old Negro outfielder who admits he has "just about given up on ever getting into the major leagues."

THURMAN, SIGNED as a free agent after Tebbetts watched him pound the ball in the Puerto Rican winter league, also can play first base and pitch, if necessary. He hit .323 and had a 2-0 pitching record in Puerto Rico.

The Senators' high command thinks "we may have landed a bargain" in Kline, who hit .319 as a Yankee farm hand with Birmingham last season. He is given a good chance of making the grade at shortstop.

HAMRIC hasn't much chance of breaking into the Dodgers' Sandy Amoros-Duke Snider-Carl Furillo outfield combine, but he figures to make a battle of it for one of the reserve spots. The Sandy Fork, Va., native, who hits from either side of the plate, has power as attested by a dozen homers in a half season at St. Paul last year. Before a fractured hand put him out of commission he hit .350. He is a fine base runer, throws well and is fast. However, he may not quite measure up to major league standard defensively.

The news was good from a number of camps where holdouts had been causing concern.

MINNIE MINOSO, the No. 1 White Sox holdout who had asked for a 100 per cent boost, finally settled for a $7,500 increase. That raised his salary to a reported $32,500.

Baltimore ended its holdout troubles with the signing of pitcher Lou Kretlow for $10,000. Catcher Sammy White was expected to write his signature on a Boston Red Sox contract today after holding out until the club approved his playing of basketball during the off season. The Red Sox also signed rookie pitcher George Susce.

But the biggest holdout of them all—the mighty Ted Williams—still hasn't put in his appearance at the Red Sox Sarasota camp.

And the Pirates have an $18,000 pact waiting for their slugging outfielder, Frank Thomas. But in Pittsburgh Thomas said he has had no official word on the contract.

Saugerties Club Plans Sport Night

Saugerties — The Saugerties Fish and Game Club outlined plans for an auction to be held at the next regular meeting scheduled for Monday, April 25.

Tentative plans were made at the meeting held Monday night for a professional auctioneer to conduct the feature of the next meeting. Members were asked to donate items for auctioning.

The present financial structure of the local club permitted the ordering of only 100 rabbits to be set out on arrival.

More than 30 members attended the meeting at which Richard L. Melius presided.

PLANS FOR THE annual banquet of the local sportsmen were formulated and Ronald Johnstone and Austin Simmons were appointed as co-chairmen of the April event. The time and place will be announced.

The club also voted to obtain a Conservation Department permit for local commercial fishermen in order that they are permitted to transfer to the upper Esopus Creek any game fish netted by them in the lower creek.

Membership buttons were ordered and will be distributed to members as soon as they arrive. The new button will be 1½ inches in diameter in green and white showing a gun and rod crossed below a deer head.

At the next meeting a junior member of the club will be chosen by lot for the Fish and Game Club sponsored vacation at De Bruce Conservation Camp located near Livingston Manor. Sponsorship of this portion of the club's youth program is undertaken each year.

Canadiens Vie For Point Crown

(By The Associated Press)

Today it's Jean Beliveau. Tomorrow — who knows? Maybe Maurice (The Rocket) Richard, maybe Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion.

That, in a nutshell, wraps up the story of the mad scramble for National Hockey League scoring supremacy since the opening faceoff back in October. Strictly a three-man Montreal proposition.

BELIVEAU, the youngest of the Montreal marauders, scored twice last night in the Canadiens' 4-1 victory over Boston. That boosted him into the lead with 70 points on 35 goals and 35 assists. Richard, the most famous goal-getter of them all, is one behind and Geoffrion two.

Another renown shotmaker, Gordie Howe, erupted from a 10-game slump by performing the "hat trick"—three goals—last night to propel the Detroit Red Wings past Chicago's last-place Black Hawks 6-1.

The Montreal triumph kept the first place Canadiens four points ahead of the runnerup Wings.

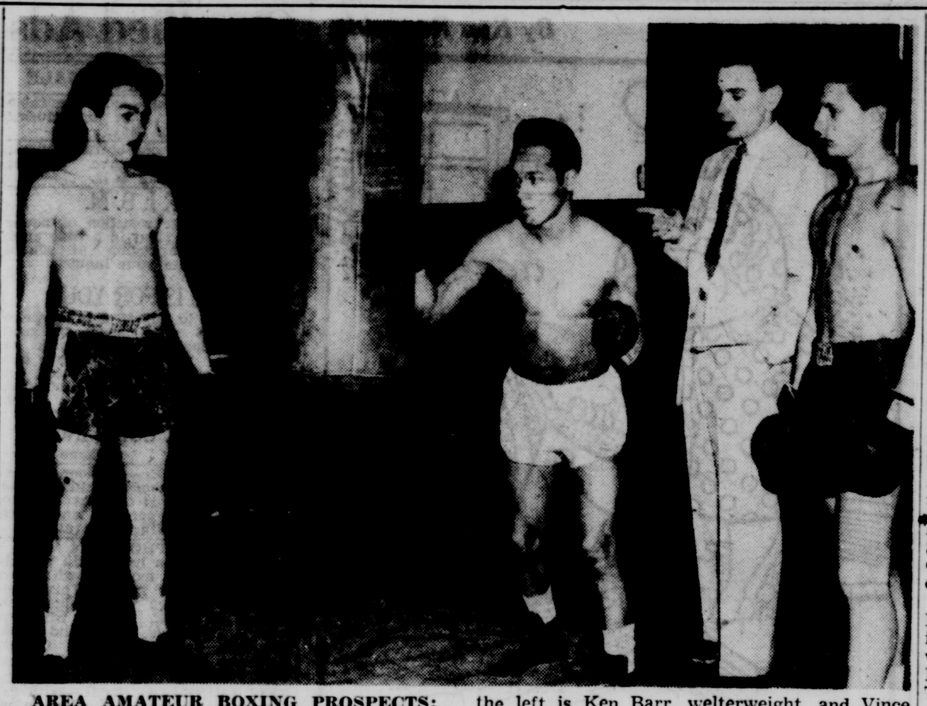

Platt-Robbins In Favorite Role

Pinehurst, N. C., March 4 (AP) —J. Wood Platt of Philadelphia and Tom Robbins of Larchmont, N. Y., the defending champions, were favored to retain their crown in the finals of the Pinehurst Country Club seniors four-ball golf tournament today.

Platt and Robbins meet James S. Manion of Clayton, Maine, and Isaac G. Darlington of Swarthmore, Pa., in the finals.

The defending champions defeated the team of Donald D. Cooke of Baltimore, and Edmund H. Driggs of Bronxville, N. Y., 4 and 3 in yesterday's semi-finals.

Suggestion: Make Second Car Something of Antique

By HAL BOYLE

New York (AP) — Millions of Americans are proud and happy owners of new shiny 1955 model motor cars.

But if you are going to have a second automobile in the family, Henry Austin Clark Jr. suggests you be a real rugged individualist and shop around for a fine old sturdy 1915 Model T Ford or a snazzy 1919 Stutz Bearcat.

Clark, 37-year-old sugar heir, is one of the nation's leading antique car collectors. He has some 250 models, most of them manufactured before he was born.

RESTORING ANTIQUE autos is a hobby growing in popularity each year.

"There are now between 10,000 and 15,000 antique cars in captivity—that is, cars that have been restored and are in the hands of collectors," he said. "Before the second World War there were only about 500.

"There are between 8,000 and 10,000 collectors, ranging from college boys to elderly millionaries. Some 1,000 now have five or more cars. The restored cars are worth anything from a few hundred dollars up to, I would say, $10,000."

Clark uses a new car himself for daily driving, but insists modern models lack many qualities of the old autos granddad drove in the adventurous age of motoring.

"THE NEW CARS all have several extra feet of useless metal encasing nothing," he observed. "And a lot of them are plastered with chromium pasted on for no obvious reason.

"They've sacrificed individuality at the altar of mass production. Unless you pick an unusual two-tone job, you can't tell one car from another. But if you're driving an 1894 Fisson you don't have any trouble finding it in a parking lot.

"The old cars had a lot of other advantages. Fresh air, for one thing. And more visibility. You could see where you were going.

"I have to admit the new cars have better brakes. But if you get into a two-foot snowfall, an old car will plow right through it. A new car is too low. It just piles up the snow in front of it and stalls.

"A MODERN CAR is also lost in 12-inch mud. On old car wasn't. A model T could go places that no other car since it could—except the jeep.

"Speed? That's nothing new in motor cars. In 1906 Fred Marriott made 127 miles an hour in a Stanley Steamer. The next year he was doing an estimated 180 to 190 when he hit a rough spot and overturned. The car's boiler went about half a mile down the track, but Fred survived.

"In the Paris to Madrid race back in 1903 they achieved a speed of 90 miles an hour. But they killed so many spectators along the way—I believe it was about 40—they had to call off the race."

"They had some horrible accidents in the old days, just as they do now. In terms of safety the only thing that hasn't changed in the automobile is the nut behind the wheel."

CLARK BELIEVES the most valuable old car in the country is his 1910 Simplex sports car, which "will still do 80 to 90 miles an hour easily."

Many of the antique cars he searches out to buy and restore are found in old family barns and estate garages. Others, surprisingly, are still on the roads.

"That can be embarrassing," he laughed. "Sometimes an owner gets indignant when you tell him you want to buy and preserve as an antique the car he drives every day.

"THE OWNER may not necessarily be poor either. I understand the Astors have a 1911 Rolls Royce which they sometimes still use for afternoon occasions."

Clark, who recently sponsored the "Carnival of Cars" on Broadway, keeps most of his antiques in a museum at Southhampton.

One of his prize exhibits, a 1906 Adams-Farwell with a rotating engine that spins like a top, has a feature which Detroit might well consider putting into its 1956 model to please cautious wives.

"You can drive it from either the front or back seat," said Clark.

Three Clubs Hope for New 'Sleeper' in Rookie Crop

(By The Associated Press)

There isn't a major league manager who doesn't hope that a sleeper, such as Mickey Mantle, Bob Grim, Wally Moon or Willie Mays turns up among the rookies striving to make baseball's big time.

That's the reason Manager Birdie Tebbetts of Cincinnati is taking a long and good look at Bob Thurman, Chuck Dressen of Washington thinks highly of Bob Kline and Walt Alston wouldn't be surprised if Bert Hamric made the Brooklyn varsity.

YOU'LL RECALL that Mantle jumped all the way from Class C into the Yankees' centerfield, Grim had played only one year of organized ball before compiling a 20-6 record for the Yankees and winning rookie of the year honors in 1954, Moon wasn't even on the Cardinals' roster until the opening day last year and Mays was so lightly regarded he wasn't in the Giants camp in 1951—the year he made his debut.

Tebbetts, already blessed with plenty of long ball hitters, figures the Redlegs have another in Thurman, 32-year-old Negro outfielder who admits he has "just about given up on ever getting into the major leagues."

THURMAN, SIGNED as a free agent after Tebbetts watched him pound the ball in the Puerto Rican winter league, also can play first base and pitch, if necessary. He hit .323 and had a 2-0 pitching record in Puerto Rico.

The Senators' high command thinks "we may have landed a bargain" in Kline, who hit .319 as a Yankee farm hand with Birmingham last season. He is given a good chance of making the grade at shortstop.

HAMRIC hasn't much chance of breaking into the Dodgers' Sandy Amoros-Duke Snider-Carl Furillo outfield combine, but he figures to make a battle of it for one of the reserve spots. The Sandy Fork, Va., native, who hits from either side of the plate, has power as attested by a dozen homers in a half season at St. Paul last year. Before a fractured hand put him out of commission he hit .350. He is a fine base runer, throws well and is fast. However, he may not quite measure up to major league standard defensively.

The news was good from a number of camps where holdouts had been causing concern.

MINNIE MINOSO, the No. 1 White Sox holdout who had asked for a 100 per cent boost, finally settled for a $7,500 increase. That raised his salary to a reported $32,500.

Baltimore ended its holdout troubles with the signing of pitcher Lou Kretlow for $10,000. Catcher Sammy White was expected to write his signature on a Boston Red Sox contract today after holding out until the club approved his playing of basketball during the off season. The Red Sox also signed rookie pitcher George Susce.

But the biggest holdout of them all—the mighty Ted Williams—still hasn't put in his appearance at the Red Sox Sarasota camp.

And the Pirates have an $18,000 pact waiting for their slugging outfielder, Frank Thomas. But in Pittsburgh Thomas said he has had no official word on the contract.

Saugerties Club Plans Sport Night

Saugerties — The Saugerties Fish and Game Club outlined plans for an auction to be held at the next regular meeting scheduled for Monday, April 25.

Tentative plans were made at the meeting held Monday night for a professional auctioneer to conduct the feature of the next meeting. Members were asked to donate items for auctioning.

The present financial structure of the local club permitted the ordering of only 100 rabbits to be set out on arrival.

More than 30 members attended the meeting at which Richard L. Melius presided.

PLANS FOR THE annual banquet of the local sportsmen were formulated and Ronald Johnstone and Austin Simmons were appointed as co-chairmen of the April event. The time and place will be announced.

The club also voted to obtain a Conservation Department permit for local commercial fishermen in order that they are permitted to transfer to the upper Esopus Creek any game fish netted by them in the lower creek.

Membership buttons were ordered and will be distributed to members as soon as they arrive. The new button will be 1½ inches in diameter in green and white showing a gun and rod crossed below a deer head.

At the next meeting a junior member of the club will be chosen by lot for the Fish and Game Club sponsored vacation at De Bruce Conservation Camp located near Livingston Manor. Sponsorship of this portion of the club's youth program is undertaken each year.

Canadiens Vie For Point Crown

(By The Associated Press)

Today it's Jean Beliveau. Tomorrow — who knows? Maybe Maurice (The Rocket) Richard, maybe Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion.

That, in a nutshell, wraps up the story of the mad scramble for National Hockey League scoring supremacy since the opening faceoff back in October. Strictly a three-man Montreal proposition.

BELIVEAU, the youngest of the Montreal marauders, scored twice last night in the Canadiens' 4-1 victory over Boston. That boosted him into the lead with 70 points on 35 goals and 35 assists. Richard, the most famous goal-getter of them all, is one behind and Geoffrion two.

Another renown shotmaker, Gordie Howe, erupted from a 10-game slump by performing the "hat trick"—three goals—last night to propel the Detroit Red Wings past Chicago's last-place Black Hawks 6-1.

The Montreal triumph kept the first place Canadiens four points ahead of the runnerup Wings.

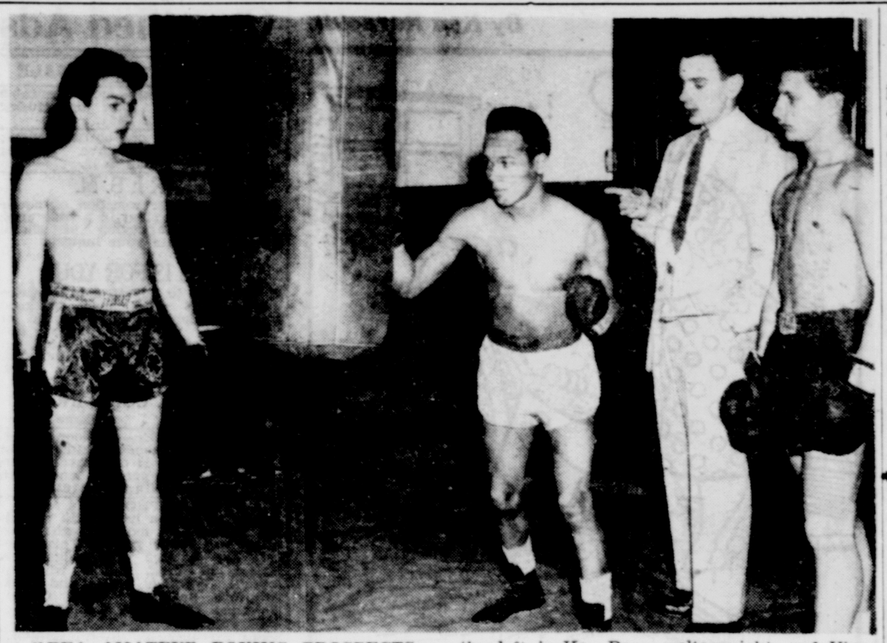

Platt-Robbins In Favorite Role

Suggestion: Make Second Car Something of Antique

By HAL BOYLE

New York (AP) — Millions of Americans are proud and happy owners of new shiny 1955 model motor cars.

But if you are going to have a second automobile in the family, Henry Austin Clark Jr. suggests you be a real rugged individualist and shop around for a fine old sturdy 1915 Model T Ford or a snazzy 1919 Stutz Bearcat.

Clark, 37-year-old sugar heir, is one of the nation's leading antique car collectors. He has some 250 models, most of them manufactured before he was born.

RESTORING ANTIQUE autos is a hobby growing in popularity each year.

"There are now between 10,000 and 15,000 antique cars in captivity—that is, cars that have been restored and are in the hands of collectors," he said. "Before the second World War there were only about 500.

"There are between 8,000 and 10,000 collectors, ranging from college boys to elderly millionaries. Some 1,000 now have five or more cars. The restored cars are worth anything from a few hundred dollars up to, I would say, $10,000."

Clark uses a new car himself for daily driving, but insists modern models lack many qualities of the old autos granddad drove in the adventurous age of motoring.

"THE NEW CARS all have several extra feet of useless metal encasing nothing," he observed. "And a lot of them are plastered with chromium pasted on for no obvious reason.

"They've sacrificed individuality at the altar of mass production. Unless you pick an unusual two-tone job, you can't tell one car from another. But if you're driving an 1894 Fisson you don't have any trouble finding it in a parking lot.

"The old cars had a lot of other advantages. Fresh air, for one thing. And more visibility. You could see where you were going.

"I have to admit the new cars have better brakes. But if you get into a two-foot snowfall, an old car will plow right through it. A new car is too low. It just piles up the snow in front of it and stalls.

"A MODERN CAR is also lost in 12-inch mud. On old car wasn't. A model T could go places that no other car since it could—except the jeep.

"Speed? That's nothing new in motor cars. In 1906 Fred Marriott made 127 miles an hour in a Stanley Steamer. The next year he was doing an estimated 180 to 190 when he hit a rough spot and overturned. The car's boiler went about half a mile down the track, but Fred survived.

"In the Paris to Madrid race back in 1903 they achieved a speed of 90 miles an hour. But they killed so many spectators along the way—I believe it was about 40—they had to call off the race."

"They had some horrible accidents in the old days, just as they do now. In terms of safety the only thing that hasn't changed in the automobile is the nut behind the wheel."

CLARK BELIEVES the most valuable old car in the country is his 1910 Simplex sports car, which "will still do 80 to 90 miles an hour easily."

Many of the antique cars he searches out to buy and restore are found in old family barns and estate garages. Others, surprisingly, are still on the roads.

"That can be embarrassing," he laughed. "Sometimes an owner gets indignant when you tell him you want to buy and preserve as an antique the car he drives every day.

"THE OWNER may not necessarily be poor either. I understand the Astors have a 1911 Rolls Royce which they sometimes still use for afternoon occasions."

Clark, who recently sponsored the "Carnival of Cars" on Broadway, keeps most of his antiques in a museum at Southhampton.

One of his prize exhibits, a 1906 Adams-Farwell with a rotating engine that spins like a top, has a feature which Detroit might well consider putting into its 1956 model to please cautious wives.

"You can drive it from either the front or back seat," said Clark.

Overheated Pipe Causes Fire on Washington Ave.

Fire from an overheated coal stove pipe which set fire to clothing hanging close to the pipe, damaged the two story brick building at 456 Washington avenue Thursday afternoon. The building is owned by Myron S. Teller and the first floor is used by him as a storage space.

The second floor is occupied by the family of William Douglas. Mrs. Douglas discovered the fire about 4 o'clock and sent in a call. Wiltwyck engine and truck responded and when Deputy Chief Sanford arrived he sent in a call for additional equipment from central station. The fire started in the bath room and spread between partitions and up to the upper loft.

Mrs. Douglas and John Clarick carried her two small children from the building and in doing so Mrs. Douglas singed her hair, firemen reported. The house was filled with dense smoke but the main damage was to the bathroom and adjacent parts of the building.

Parents Are Invited To School Meetings

Rosendale, March 4—All parents of children attending the Rosendale Union Free School are invited to attend the regular monthly meeting of the parents' association, according to an announcement by Mrs. V. Jalanti. The organization feels that the school teachers are doing a good job, but that the cooperation of all parents is required, and parents should keep in touch with the school activities.

At the meeting, parents who have recently moved into Rosendale and whose children attend the school are cordially invited to come and meet the teachers as well as other parents.

Meetings of the organization are held the third Wednesday of each month, starting at 8:15 p. m. The March meeting will be held a week from next Wednesday, March 16. It is hoped that a large number of parents will be in attendance at this meeting.

The Girls' League for Service of the Rosendale Reformed Church will hold a food and cake sale at Mrs. Auchmoody's place on Main street, Saturday, March 12, starting at 10:30 a. m.

Each Wednesday during Lent, from 7:45 to 8:45 p. m., special services will be held at the Rosendale Reformed Church. The choir of the church will render selections in addition to a speaker. Everyone is invited to attend these special Lenten services.

Security Council

and Abba Eban of Israel both were ready to speak when invited to the council table. Neither nation is a member of the 11-nation group.

The urgent meeting was called after Egypt on Wednesday charged Israeli forces with "violent and premeditated aggression" in the 60-mile-long Gaza coastal strip occupied by the Egyptians.

The Cairo government charged Israel's troops with attacking a military camp near the ancient city of Gaza, two miles inside the territory, and with ambushing a truckload of reinforcements. Egypt termed this the "most brutal act of aggression" since the 1949 armistice.

Israel's countercomplaint, filed yesterday, made no mention of the Gaza battle but accused Egypt of "continuing violations" of the armistice agreement and council resolutions. It charged:

(1) Armed attacks on Israeli troops, (2) raids on Israeli citizens, (3) Egyptian failure to prevent such acts, (4) assertion of a state of war and exercise of active belligerency against Israel, including a blockade, (5) "warlike propaganda and threats," and (6) refusal to negotiate a peace treaty to replace the armistice.

The complaint was in line with Israel's usual strategy of trying to shift such council debates from particular incidents to the general Arab-Israeli situation and the need for an over-all, long term solution.

Earlier Israeli statements in Jerusalem on the Gaza fighting charged the Egyptians attacked first inside Israel and were chased back into Egypt.

In Damascus yesterday Egypt and Syria announced they had signed a new defense pact which Syrian Prime Minister Sabri Assali said resulted from the need for "practical and decisive measures to safeguard the Arab countries from repeated Israeli aggressions."

Informed sources said all other Arab nations would be invited to join the new alliance, which is designed to replace the non-functioning Arab League Collective Defense Treaty.

The board also approved the probationary appointment of Paul Bierwisch as a teacher in the elementary schools at a salary of $4,450 effective September 1, 1955. Bierwisch is a graduate of Kingston High School with an AB degree from Albany State Teachers College and an MS degree in education from New Paltz State Teachers College. He has had seven years teaching experience, five at the Red Hook Central School and two at Saugerties.

MARY R. GILLEN was given probationary appointment as a teacher in the elementary schools at a salary of $3,950 a year effective September 1, 1955. She is a graduate of New Paltz State Normal School and is in process of completing the requirements for a BS degree in elementary education. She was a teacher in the Rossman School, Stockport, for two years, and has been a substitute teacher in the Kingston schools for six years, completing approximately 600 days of teaching or the equivalent of three years of service.

Ruth M. Grossjohann was given probationary appointment as a teacher in the elementary schools at a salary of $3,200 a year effective September 1, 1955. She is a graduate of Kingston High School and will be graduated in June from the New Paltz State Teachers College with a BS degree in elementary education. A contract to supply two-light fixtures was awarded to the Ulster Electric Supply Co., Kingston, at $17.95 each and a contract for four-light fixtures to the City Electric Supply Co., Kingston, at $31.63 each.

Payment of payrolls and vouchers amounting to $162,583 was authorized by the board. The resolution was introduced by Robert O'Reilly, chairman of the finance committee.

Chester A. Baltz presided at the meeting in the absence of President Robert Herzog who is vacationing in Hawaii.

Attending the meeting as observers were Mrs. Winifred O'Neil and Mrs. Masayo Hess, teachers in the George Washington School. Mrs. Hess, who teaches the third grade, is an exchange teacher from Hawaii.

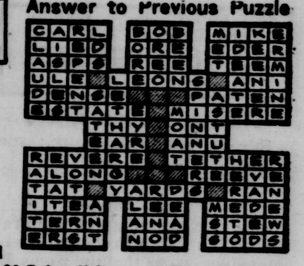

The next meeting of the board will be held Wednesday, April 6.

TV Lauded By Desmond

Albany, March 4 (AP) — Sen. Thomas C. Desmond says television is a "powerful friend" of elderly persons.

"Television glorifies youth on its programs as youth is glorified by other media of entertainment," the Newburgh Republican said yesterday, "but it has balanced these with some tremendously moving shows which have taught America the problems and opportunities of the aged and the means of meeting their needs."

Desmond is chairman of the joint legislative committee on problems of the aging. His statements were contained in a committee report.

The motion picture industry, on the other hand, has produced "no great documentary on old age" nor have there been "any reasonable number of superior productions which realistically depict life problems of later life or its great challenges and opportunities," Desmond added.

Overheated Pipe Causes Fire on Washington Ave.

Fire from an overheated coal stove pipe which set fire to clothing hanging close to the pipe, damaged the two story brick building at 456 Washington avenue Thursday afternoon. The building is owned by Myron S. Teller and the first floor is used by him as a storage space.

The second floor is occupied by the family of William Douglas. Mrs. Douglas discovered the fire about 4 o'clock and sent in a call. Wiltwyck engine and truck responded and when Deputy Chief Sanford arrived he sent in a call for additional equipment from central station. The fire started in the bath room and spread between partitions and up to the upper loft.

Mrs. Douglas and John Clarick carried her two small children from the building and in doing so Mrs. Douglas singed her hair, firemen reported. The house was filled with dense smoke but the main damage was to the bathroom and adjacent parts of the building.

Rosendale

Parents Are Invited To School Meetings

Rosendale, March 4—All parents of children attending the Rosendale Union Free School are invited to attend the regular monthly meeting of the parents' association, according to an announcement by Mrs. V. Jalanti. The organization feels that the school teachers are doing a good job, but that the cooperation of all parents is required, and parents should keep in touch with the school activities.

At the meeting, parents who have recently moved into Rosendale and whose children attend the school are cordially invited to come and meet the teachers as well as other parents.

Meetings of the organization are held the third Wednesday of each month, starting at 8:15 p. m. The March meeting will be held a week from next Wednesday, March 16. It is hoped that a large number of parents will be in attendance at this meeting.

The Girls' League for Service of the Rosendale Reformed Church will hold a food and cake sale at Mrs. Auchmoody's place on Main street, Saturday, March 12, starting at 10:30 a. m.

Each Wednesday during Lent, from 7:45 to 8:45 p. m., special services will be held at the Rosendale Reformed Church. The choir of the church will render selections in addition to a speaker. Everyone is invited to attend these special Lenten services.

Security Council

and Abba Eban of Israel both were ready to speak when invited to the council table. Neither nation is a member of the 11-nation group.

The urgent meeting was called after Egypt on Wednesday charged Israeli forces with "violent and premeditated aggression" in the 60-mile-long Gaza coastal strip occupied by the Egyptians.

The Cairo government charged Israel's troops with attacking a military camp near the ancient city of Gaza, two miles inside the territory, and with ambushing a truckload of reinforcements. Egypt termed this the "most brutal act of aggression" since the 1949 armistice.

Israel's countercomplaint, filed yesterday, made no mention of the Gaza battle but accused Egypt of "continuing violations" of the armistice agreement and council resolutions. It charged:

(1) Armed attacks on Israeli troops, (2) raids on Israeli citizens, (3) Egyptian failure to prevent such acts, (4) assertion of a state of war and exercise of active belligerency against Israel, including a blockade, (5) "warlike propaganda and threats," and (6) refusal to negotiate a peace treaty to replace the armistice.

The complaint was in line with Israel's usual strategy of trying to shift such council debates from particular incidents to the general Arab-Israeli situation and the need for an over-all, long term solution.

Earlier Israeli statements in Jerusalem on the Gaza fighting charged the Egyptians attacked first inside Israel and were chased back into Egypt.

In Damascus yesterday Egypt and Syria announced they had signed a new defense pact which Syrian Prime Minister Sabri Assali said resulted from the need for "practical and decisive measures to safeguard the Arab countries from repeated Israeli aggressions."

Informed sources said all other Arab nations would be invited to join the new alliance, which is designed to replace the non-functioning Arab League Collective Defense Treaty.

TV Lauded By Desmond

Albany, March 4 (AP) — Sen. Thomas C. Desmond says television is a "powerful friend" of elderly persons.

"Television glorifies youth on its programs as youth is glorified by other media of entertainment," the Newburgh Republican said yesterday, "but it has balanced these with some tremendously moving shows which have taught America the problems and opportunities of the aged and the means of meeting their needs."

Desmond is chairman of the joint legislative committee on problems of the aging. His statements were contained in a committee report.

The motion picture industry, on the other hand, has produced "no great documentary on old age" nor have there been "any reasonable number of superior productions which realistically depict life problems of later life or its great challenges and opportunities," Desmond added.

Man Would Sow Seeds Over World

Los Angeles, March 4 (AP)—Patty Gardenseed, a one-man Marshall Plan, has set sail to "sow a green band around the world to offset the Red band."

Patty is really Aloysius Mozier, 49-year-old engineer on a merchant ship. He calls himself Patty Gardenseed. He began his campaign of bringing garden seeds to needy persons when he saw a young girl in Pusan, Korea, collapse and die of malnutrition several years ago.

"I decided to do something about it and bring food to these starving people," Patty said.

Already he has distributed more than half a million seed packages in various world ports. He has even been praised in the Congressional Record.

PATTY'S CABIN aboard the Phillipine Bear, which sailed yesterday for the Far East, was crammed with 100,000 vegetable seed packages.

The International Rotary Clubs are aiding and will meet the ship in Korea, Japan, Philippines and other ports and help distribute the seeds.

Patty explained the orientals are a proud people. "They won't take a handout but they will accept seeds because it helps them help themselves.

PATTY, WHO HAS spent about $1,500 of his own money on the project, has received some tokens of gratitude. In Sumatra someone gave him a tiger which he presented to a zoo. A family in Malaya offered him a baby which he declined.

Sometimes handing out seeds has a lighter side.

In Indonesia a native took a package of Patty's seeds, tore off the top and calmly ate them.

"You're supposed to plant them, not eat them," Patty said.

Why We Say--

Uncultured people may be called barbarians. But the name came from the Greeks, who were scornful of languages they didn't understand. Just as we sometimes refer to unknown sounds as "blah blah," they called the foreign words "bar bar" and the people uttering the sounds "barbarians."

Booths to Show Varied Features

Mobile homes and do-it-yourself booths will be features of the 1955 edition of "Kingston Area on Parade"—the annual exposition and home show sponsored by the local Lions Club at the Kingston Armory on Manor avenue.

Harry Gold, general chairman, announced today that the "big show" will get underway on Tuesday evening, March 22, at 7:30 p. m., and will continue nightly until 10:30 p. m., for the balance of the week.

According to the general chairman, the 1955 exposition will have the largest and most diversified group of displays ever presented by the service club. "In fact," Gold said, "there will be well over 100 individual displays, and practically every available booth is now spoken for."

Due to a change in format of the show, there are still a number of booths available for assignment.

Members of the committee presenting this year's exposition are: Harry Gold, chairman; Warren Smith, vice chairman; Harold W. O'Connor, Roger Baer Schwartz, John G. Reynolds, Joseph A. Fassbender, Ernest J. DuBois, Harry Kapreilian, Henry Singer, Martin W. Golden, LeRoy A. VanBramer, Max Oppenheimer, Minford A. Overfield, and DeVall H. Dunbar.

Man Would Sow Seeds Over World

Los Angeles, March 4 (AP)—Patty Gardenseed, a one-man Marshall Plan, has set sail to "sow a green band around the world to offset the Red band."

Patty is really Aloysius Mozier, 49-year-old engineer on a merchant ship. He calls himself Patty Gardenseed. He began his campaign of bringing garden seeds to needy persons when he saw a young girl in Pusan, Korea, collapse and die of malnutrition several years ago.

"I decided to do something about it and bring food to these starving people," Patty said.

Already he has distributed more than half a million seed packages in various world ports. He has even been praised in the Congressional Record.

PATTY'S CABIN aboard the Phillipine Bear, which sailed yesterday for the Far East, was crammed with 100,000 vegetable seed packages.

The International Rotary Clubs are aiding and will meet the ship in Korea, Japan, Philippines and other ports and help distribute the seeds.

Patty explained the orientals are a proud people. "They won't take a handout but they will accept seeds because it helps them help themselves.

PATTY, WHO HAS spent about $1,500 of his own money on the project, has received some tokens of gratitude. In Sumatra someone gave him a tiger which he presented to a zoo. A family in Malaya offered him a baby which he declined.

Sometimes handing out seeds has a lighter side.

In Indonesia a native took a package of Patty's seeds, tore off the top and calmly ate them.

"You're supposed to plant them, not eat them," Patty said.

Why We Say--

Uncultured people may be called barbarians. But the name came from the Greeks, who were scornful of languages they didn't understand. Just as we sometimes refer to unknown sounds as "blah blah," they called the foreign words "bar bar" and the people uttering the sounds "barbarians."

Booths to Show Varied Features

Mobile homes and do-it-yourself booths will be features of the 1955 edition of "Kingston Area on Parade"—the annual exposition and home show sponsored by the local Lions Club at the Kingston Armory on Manor avenue.

Harry Gold, general chairman, announced today that the "big show" will get underway on Tuesday evening, March 22, at 7:30 p. m., and will continue nightly until 10:30 p. m., for the balance of the week.

According to the general chairman, the 1955 exposition will have the largest and most diversified group of displays ever presented by the service club. "In fact," Gold said, "there will be well over 100 individual displays, and practically every available booth is now spoken for."

Due to a change in format of the show, there are still a number of booths available for assignment.

Members of the committee presenting this year's exposition are: Harry Gold, chairman; Warren Smith, vice chairman; Harold W. O'Connor, Roger Baer Schwartz, John G. Reynolds, Joseph A. Fassbender, Ernest J. DuBois, Harry Kapreilian, Henry Singer, Martin W. Golden, LeRoy A. VanBramer, Max Oppenheimer, Minford A. Overfield, and DeVall H. Dunbar.
